Motorists Who Do Risk Their Necks And Flaunt Law

More adequate highways are proposed as one key to greater traffic safety, but one of the biggest factors to fewer traffic deaths and injuries is proper use of existing highways.

In Ohio this means observance by all drivers of the many warning devices, signs, and signals devised by the state highway department to warn of danger ahead.

BUT STILL, unthinking drivers who care little for life and property values — fail to pay heed to the signs and signals placed there for their protection.

Records of the state highway patrol post in Marion indicate that a large share of the accidents in Marion and surrounding counties are the result of one or more motorists driving left of the center line, or crossing over a single or double yellow line to pass another vehicle.

These actions mean the taking of unnecessary chances. And in Ohio it's strictly illegal to drive to the left of the center line exept to pass and then only when there is an assured clear distance ahead.

THE LAWS AGAINST driving to the left of the center line are outlined in two sections of the Motor Vehicle Laws of Ohio. They read as follows:

"No vehicle . . . shall be driven to the left of the center line . . . in overtaking or passing traffic proceeding in the same direction, unless such left side is clearly visible and is free of oncoming traffic for a sufficient distance ahead to permit such overtaking and passing to be completely made, without interfering with the safe operation of any traffic approaching from the opposite direction or any traffic overtaken.

"NO VEHICLE . . . shall, in overtaking and passing traffic, or at any other time, be driven to the left of the center line . . . under the following conditions:

"When approaching the crest of a grade or upon a curve . . . where the operator's view is obstructed within such a distance as to create a hazard in the event traffic might approach from the opposite direction;

"When the view is obstructed upon approaching a bridge, viaduct, or tunnel;

"When approaching within 100 feet of or traversing any intersection or railroad grade crossing, unless compliance with this section is impossible because of insufficient roadway space.

"This section does not apply . . . upon a one-way roadway or upon a roadway where traffic is lawfully directed to be driven on the left side."

THIS IS THE LAW and to help remind Ohioans of these rules and regulations, the highway department paints either single or double yellow lines at those places where DRIVING LEFT OF THE CENTERLINE as illustrated here is an invitation to death. Records of the state highway patrol show that many head-on collisions which almost invariably lead to one or more fatalities are caused by just such driving errors as this.

U. S. Diplomat Flies Back To Geneva To Aid France In Indochina Peace Talks

Bedell Smith Returns After Long Absence

French Counting on American Influence To Strengthen Hand

GENEVA (AP)—U.S. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith arrived by plane today to strengthen France's hand in the rough bargaining for peace in Indochina.

The U.S. diplomat, returning to head the delegation he left four weeks ago, was greeted by members of all the non-Communist delegations.

Met by Indochinese

Significantly, the delegations of the three Associated States of Indochina, Viet Nam, Cambodia and Laos, were represented at the airport by the heads of their delegations. The three states are counting heavily on the influence of the United States to save them from submission to excessive Communist demands in the impending armistice negotiations.

French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden arranged to confer with Smith after his arrival.

Gloom spread over the conference last night after Mendes-France and Eden spent three apparently fruitless hours wrangling with Russia's V. M. Molotov over differences blocking a truce agreement.

No Real Progress

One authoritative source said there had been "no progress at all on any of the real issues."

It was Mendes-France's second abortive parley with Molotov in 24 hours. Earlier the Reds had boosted Western hopes they were ready to compromise and allow the French premier to win his dramatic race to end the Indochina War. The French premier has promised to resign if he doesn't achieve a ceasefire agreement by July 20.

Although western diplomats now are less optimistic about chances for a truce they think the Reds might still come around before the deadline date.

Informants said Mendes-France last night handed Molotov the first detailed draft of Western proposals.

18th Parallel

The Communists and the Western ministers have failed to agree on a partition line through the pivotal Indochinese state of Viet Nam.

Mendes-France reportedly wants the line cut at the 18th Parallel. The Communists want the state divided at the 14th latitude which would give them most of Viet Nam including the important air and

Cleveland Help Offer Made for Murder Probe

Mayor Says Facilities Of City Ready To Aid Stalled Investigation

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze offered today to have the Cleveland Police department take over investigation of the two-week-old Marilyn Sheppard murder mystery.

Suburban Bay Village and Cuyahoga County sheriff's deputies have been handling the case.

The mayor said the city's experienced, well-equipped homicide bureau would try to crack the baffling slaying "if asked by responsible officials and if we were given complete charge."

Mrs. Sheppard, 31, attractive wife of a wealthy osteopath, was beaten to death in a bedroom of her home in suburban Bay Village, and her husband, Dr. Samuel Sheppard, 30, has told police he fought her assailant and was injured by him. No weapon has been recovered and no very helpful clues have been turned up since the crime was committed about 4 a.m. July 4.

County authorities yesterday invited into the case Dr. Alan R. Moritz, one of the world's outstanding medicolegal experts and director of Western Reserve University's school of pathology. He has been consultant in dozens of major crime cases, is chairman of the American Medical Assn's. medicolegal problems groups, and

$350,000 Bond Issue Slated for Richwood Vote

RICHWOOD — Approval of a $350,000 bond issue for a new wing on the east side of the elementary building and improvements in the present grade school will be sought at the Nov. 2 election by the Claiborne-Richwood School board.

The board voted to submit the bond issue at the November election at a recent meeting.

At an earlier meeting, May 26, Thomas Rayburn, school architect, presented plans for the proposed 12 classroom wing. Lloyd G. Kerns, Union County prosecutor, is handling legal details of the bond issue.

Some of the funds derived from the proposed bond issue would also be used for remodeling at the current elementary building and for purchasing equipment.

Shopper Reports Theft Of $140 From Billfold

Theft of $140 from a shopper's billfold was reported today by Marion City police.

Mrs. Wilma Dacken, of 188 Bellevue Ave. told police the money was stolen while she was shopping Friday at a neighborhood grocery store.

Mrs. Dacken said she laid her purse down to pick out groceries and when she picked it up, $140 was missing from her billfold.

Held 12 Days

Released GIs Tell Of Czech Threats

FUERTH, Germany (AP) — Seven American soldiers held 12 days in Communist Czechoslovakia said today their captors threatened them with imprisonment if they did not reveal U.S. military secrets.

Capt. Jack Davis, 31, of Raytown, Mo. — one of the captives — said Czech army officers told the men "after a year or so (in prison) you will probably give better answers."

Not Bodily Harmed

Davis, speaking for the others at a news conference in an Army military courtroom crowded with photographers and newsmen, said they were never bodily harmed or threatened with physical violence.

The seven are: Davis, Pvt. Richard J. Jumper, 21, Bonneville, Miss., Pfc. Leonard D. Tennis, 18, Alliance, Ohio, Cpl. John F. Glasson, 24, Oakdale, Calif., Pfc. Jerry W. Griffith, 22, Springfield, Ohio, Pfc. George Switzer, 23, Milburn, Neb. and Pvt. Ross McGinnis, 21, Greensburg, Pa.

Davis, chubby, freckled medical officer, said the men went to the border July 4 "to take a look," and that they were captured by a roving Czech border patrol of about 20 armed men.

He said the Czechs fired several warning shots at the men "so they could capture us."

After they were captured, Davis said he protested and explained they were only on a holiday.

Nervous but Fit

The seven appeared nervous but otherwise seemed fit. They had changed from the rumpled, dirty clothing they wore on their release July 15, and were neat and clean shaven.

Davis said the Czechs took them from Baernau (West Germany) crossing point to an unknown destination inside Czechoslovakia.

"We do not know where we were held," Davis continued. "It may have been Prague and it may not. We were held in prisons, that's all we know."

When the men were first captured, the Czechs turned their cloth garrison caps inside out and shoved them down over the men's eyes in an improvised blindfold.

"I pulled my cap back up to see several times," Davis said, "but a guard jammed it back down over my eyes as they led us away. They meant business."

Davis, whose wife and children live in Darmstadt, said their captors spoke only in Czech and it was not until that night that an English speaking officer questioned them individually.

None of the Americans was armed but McGinnis and Switzer both carried cameras.

"They took my camera away from me," McGinnis said, "and I didn't get it back until just before I was returned across the border. They took the film of the pictures I had taken to send back to the folks at home. They'll never get them now.

"None of the pictures was taken at the border, but back from it on the German side," he explained.

Davis said that after they had trudged for some time with the

Scientific Stations

Reds Send Study Teams To Ice Islands Near Pole

MOSCOW (AP)—The Russians disclosed today they are maintaining "scientific stations" on two floating ice islands in the polar region north and northwest of Alaska.

The Soviet News Agency Tass said teams on the icefloes are taking depth measurements of the Arctic Ocean, studying atmospheric conditions and making geological surveys of the seabed. The scientists were flown to their drifting bases last spring and are being supplied by helicopters.

North of Alaska

Tass said one of the stations is north of Alaska and within 100 miles of the North Pole.

The other is above Siberia and about 500 miles northwest of Point Barrow, Alaska. It is 650 miles from the pole.

The report said the Arctic teams are living in tents and prefabricated houses heated with coal and gas. Fresh vegetables, letters, packages and newspapers are being flown to them regularly.

Have Tractors, Windmills

The bases were said to be equipped with tractors, motor cars and windmills. Their radio stations are keeping regular contact with the Soviet mainland.

The stations are under the command of two specialists in geographical science.

So far extensive research has been carried on in the central Arctic near the North Pole, the submerged Lomonosov Mountains and the continental shelf of the Chukotsk Sea, it was said.

Western observers looked on the establishment of the icefloe bases as another move in the Soviet-U.S. contest for supremacy in the Arctic — the shortest air route between Russia and North America.

Congressman Offered Bribe, FBI Is Advised

Probes Report Bid Made To Buy Vote On Postal Pay Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Rees (R-Kan) said today the House Post Office Committee would "leave to the FBI" an investigation of a reported attempt to bribe a member of the committee.

Rees declared himself "stunned" by the report, but said he planned no independent inquiry because "it's a matter for the Department of Justice."

FBI on Job

Atty. Gen. Brownell late yesterday verified widely circulated rumors that the FBI was looking into a report that a committee member had been approached in a purported attempt to influence his vote on legislation to raise the pay of postal workers.

Brownell told newsmen the report was made by Rep. Broyhill, Virginia Republican and wealthy building contractor of nearby Arlington, Va.

According to the report to the FBI, the alleged bribe attempt was in the form of an offer of a $500 campaign contribution. Broyhill is seeking reelection this year.

Neither Brownell nor Broyhill would say who made the alleged offer, who received it, or when it took place. Broyhill is a committee member.

Union Leaders Shocked

The heads of two AFL unions which have been seeking a pay raise for postal workers both denounced the reported overture. Leo E. George, president of the National Federation of Post Office Clerks, termed it "so reprehensible that it is impossible to believe" and urged a full investigation. William C. Doherty, president of the National Assn. of Letter Carriers, called it "preposterous — unthinkable."

Rees and other members of the committee who could be contacted said they had no previous knowledge of the alleged bribe offer.

But Rep. Gross (R-Iowa) told reporters he was "surprised that Broyhill didn't come to the committee in the first place."

The Post Office committee has been engaged in a long and bitter wrangle over legislation to give a pay increase to the half a million members of the Post Office Department.

Home of Mahoning Democrat Bombed

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Jack Sulligan, Mahoning County Democratic chairman, today said he could present no concrete reason for the bombing of his home at 2:30 a. m. today.

The explosion ripped off sections of the front porch steps, shattered windows in the Sulligan home and the home next door. Both houses were sprayed with lead pellets. Police said the bomb appeared to have been made of dynamite.

It was the 28th bombing in 32 months in the Youngstown district.

Forest House Is Damaged in Gasoline Fire

FOREST — A gasoline explosion and fire in one half of a double residence Friday night resulted in a $5,000 loss.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Horner on Martin St. in Forest, located one-half block from the fire station, was seriously damaged by the fire which started about 5 p.m. The other part of the house, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Inman, was damaged by water and smoke with loss estimated at about $200.

The fire started from the explosion of a gallon jug of gasoline which was on an enclosed back porch, just off the kitchen. When the room became hot the gasoline expanded and broke the jug.

Mrs. Horner, who was in the kitchen at the time preparing supper, was trying to mop up the gasoline when the fire from the open burners on the kitchen stove ignited the fumes. Mrs. Horner suffered first degree burns on both legs up to the knees. She was treated at the office of a local physician.

The back part of both the lower and upper floors were filled with flames. Fire Chief Morris Burk reported the flames were under control within an hour.

Loss to the house was estimated at $3,000 and to the contents of the Horner part of the house, $2,000. The entire loss was covered by insurance.

Demolition Experts Clean Up After Fireworks Plant Blast

Jurors Acquit Dentist in Love Triangle Death

Spectators at Trial In Michigan Scream As Verdict Is Read

ALLEGAN, Mich. (AP)—The love-triangle murder case against Dr. Kenneth B. Small, Detroit dentist who killed his pretty wife's admirer, ended in a dramatic verdict of acquittal by reason of insanity early today.

An Allegan County Circuit Court jury of 11 men and one woman returned its verdict at 1:40 a.m. EST after five hours four minutes of deliberation.

Women spectators screamed. Others applauded. Some women kissed Dr. Small.

The verdict, in effect, held that Dr. Small, 31, society dentist, was not mentally responsible when he shot and killed Jules M. Lack, 45, New York playboy-industrialist, at a swank summer cottage near here last Memorial Day weekend.

At the time Small's brunette wife, Edith, 30, mother of three boys, was a guest with Lack at a house party. The husband had trailed her to the cottage after becoming suspicious of her story she was with a woman friend in Chicago.

As the verdict was about to be read, Dr. Small sat quietly. His eyes were closed. It appeared he might have been praying.

At the "not guilty" declaration, he looked behind him to smile at his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Small.

Friends rushed to his side to clasp his hand.

Ten Lives Claimed In Explosions; Many Hurt

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP)—About 200 men, women and children evacuated their homes around Chestertown's smashed fireworks plant today while Army teams began removing dangerous explosives from a blasted area.

A series of explosions in the combination fireworks - munitions factory caused 10 known deaths yesterday. More than 50 persons were hurt and five remained in hospitals.

A special state police team got ready to search the ruins of the Kent Manufacturing Co. plant to see if there were any more dead.

A three-block area was cleared by civil defense workers. The residents moved into other parts of this small Eastern Shore town. A sound truck stood by to give the all clear for them.

The Army demolition teams from Aberdeen proving ground started first with less dangerous explosives; such as fireworks and detonator caps.

They hauled the stuff to an area known as the "sand pits" about a half mile from town and set it afire. There was little noise.

The explosives experts then prepared to take care of stocks of lead azide, a dangerous explosive. They intended to neutralize this by dunking it in water and oil.

Col. Harry S. Russell, director of civil defense, reported no incidents in the evacuation from around the plant.

Cpl. Walter Kulley, heading a special police detail, said an exhaustive search will be made of the ruins, and it probably would not be completed until nightfall.

Quick Passage Predicted for Housing Plans

Committee Cuts Ike's Three-Year Proposal, Submits One-Year Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate-House conference committee surgery on President Eisenhower's public housing program stirred scattered bipartisan outcries in the Senate today.

But Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), Senate majority leader, predicted quick Senate approval of an overall housing measure. And Chairman Wolcott (R-Mich) of the House Banking Committee indicated confidence of final passage on the other side of Capitol Hill as well.

Agree on Compromise

A majority of the conference group, after two weeks of daily sessions, agreed late yesterday on a compromise bill that in most respects would carry out major elements of President Eisenhower's housing program.

However, instead of recommending Eisenhower's proposal for a four-year public housing program of 35,000 new units a year, the majority called for only a one-year program — and that restricted to families actually forced out of their homes by slum clearance projects in which the federal government takes a hand. There was some question just how many families might be eligible. The conference group fixed a 35,000-unit ceiling for the one year.

Sen. Ives (R-NY) and Sparkman (D-Ala), together with all three House Democrats on the conference committee, withheld their signatures from the report in protest against the majority's refusal to adopt the President's public housing recommendations.

Calls Action 'Terrible'

Ives termed the limited one-year program "virtually useless in my state."

He said in an interview he would support a move—if one is made—to send the compromise bill back to conference.

Sen. Lehman (D-Lib-NY) called the Senate-House group action "terrible" and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) said the conference commit-

Unemployment Drops, Labor Department Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Labor Department said yesterday that unemployment among workers insured for unemployment compensation dropped 96,200 during the week ended July 3 to 1,777,100, lowest level since the 1953 Christmas week.

Initial claims of jobless workers for benefits rose by 29,200 to 344,100 during the week ended July 10.

Conduct 'Unbecoming'

Flanders Wants Senate To Condemn McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) said today the Senate's handling of his demand for a vote of censure against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) will test its "political morality."

Flanders yesterday announced he was abandoning efforts to get the Senate to fire McCarthy from committee chairmanships.

Would Condemn Him

He said he would offer on Tuesday instead, a resolution which would place the Senate on record as declaring McCarthy's conduct as chairman of the Senate investigations subcommittee "is hereby condemned" as unbecoming a senator.

Flanders said he will seek an immediate vote on it Tuesday—the same day McCarthy faces a threatened showdown with subcommittee members seeking to force a shakeup of his staff appointees.

McCarthy, watching his bubbling troubles on both fronts, said he feels "no concern" about Flanders' new move, and told reporters that "as far as I'm concerned" it will be all right for his subcommittee to bring the staff problem to a head at its closed door meeting Tuesday.

Leaders Crack Down

He had blocked a staff shakeup move by Sen. Potter (R-Mich) Thursday by throwing out as invalid the proxy vote of the absent Sen. McClellan (D-Ark). McClellan's vote, with that of the two subcommittee Democrats present, would have given Potter's motion a majority on the seven-man group.

makeshift blindfolds around their eyes, they arrived at a house.

"We were taken individually to other rooms where the Czechs took most of our personal things, which included our billfolds, identification cards, wrist watches and the like. Then they put us into a vehicle after handcuffing us.

"Then they took us to a larger building where we were seated in a row. They copied our names off the identification cards. They caught us at about 5:30 p.m. and by then it had grown dark. After we were seated in the second building, a Czech officer arrived and interrogated us in English for about an hour."

Davis said that these first questions were of "a military nature," but did not elaborate.

"I explained that we were only sightseers on a holiday and didn't know we had crossed the border, if we actually had crossed it."

No threats were made at this first interrogation, but the Czechs insisted that the men, all members of a medical detachment, were spies.

"After that, we were handled individually. We were all separated and did not see each other during our confinement," Davis continued.

Moved Three Times

"Altogether, we were moved to three different places, and when we were moved we were blindfolded so that we could not even tell which direction we were moving.

"They questioned us in all six or seven times, sometimes as long as six hours. I remember one day when they took me out for questioning after breakfast, then I returned for lunch to my cell and right after lunch they took me out for questioning again.

"They questioned me on everything ranging from military subjects to American politics and Sen. McCarthy," Davis went on.

Tennis said his treatment was similar.

"I was questioned quite roughly. They shouted and yelled at me and shook their fists at me but they did not strike me or use other physical violence," he said.

Davis said his interrogator asked him if he knew what McCarthy's job was. He replied that the Wisconsin senator was on a senatorial committee and the Czech did not pursue the question further.

Jumper, a 6-foot-2 Negro, said his Communist inquisitors raised the race question.

"I don't know exactly what they were trying to find out," he said, "because they asked me an awful lot of questions altogether. But they did try to make something out of it."

"McGinnis broke in to say: 'They tried to sell us communism but I just laughed at them and told them something you people could not print in a newspaper.'

Davis said he could not see out his cell window because it was milky, wire-impregnated glass set behind stout steel bars. A wooden bed with a straw mattress, a wooden table and chair comprised cell furniture.

3 Meals a Day

The men all said they were fed three meals a day, which included coffee and black bread for breakfast, stew at noon and stew again at night. They were awakened at daybreak, even though at least one interrogation was carried on late at night.

Davis said the food was sufficient and rich in protein but "too low on carbohydrates."

"Their best food isn't as good as our worst," he added.

He said his questioners—obviously members of the Czech secret police—often interviewed them clad in sports coats and slacks, with tie-less collars casually opened.

Although the men did not know what kind of prison they were held in, they heard voices of other prisoners.

"One night I heard some people praying aloud in an adjoining cell," Davis said. "It sounded like it was women's voices but too muffled for me to be sure."

"That same night, very late, I did hear a woman's voice," Davis continued. "She was moaning and crying. It sounded like she was crying 'Montag! Montag! (Monday! Monday!) in German."

Davis disclosed they were never told they were going to be released. On the day they were handed over to U.S. military authorities at Waidhaus, West German border checkpoint, they were blindfolded and taken to a Czech bus which drove them to the border.

Refused a Shave

Tennis said that on the last day of confinement his warders wanted to have a barber shave off his 12-day growth of beard but that he refused.

Griffith said the Czechs asked him if he would like to stay.

"I told them no. I also told them I had a wife in the states," he said.

The men said a Czech doctor gave them a physical examination not long after their capture and that they were then fingerprinted and photographed.

Weather Report

tee "emasculated" what he called Eisenhower's "facsimile of a public housing program.

Despite signs of a possible last-ditch attack on the whole housing bill, Knowland said in an interview he expected neither long debate nor a successful recommittal motion when the Senate takes a final look at the bill. He did not say when this would come.

Wolcott said the House would take up the legislation Tuesday and he predicted defeat of an anticipated effort there to send the measure back to conference.

Explosions

Red Cross officials, making a check of names, feared there might be "four or five" of the factory's 275 workers still missing. However, the list was narrowed when two women, Dorothy and Beulah Grimes, called the Kent County News this morning from their home in Stevensville, about 20 miles away.

Army, FBI and company officials sought the exact cause of the blasts and took precautions against further explosions.

National Guardsmen patrolled the streets and stood guard at the armory, converted to an emergency morgue, where the remains of 10 victims were bundled in blankets, most no bigger than overnight bags.

Six of these bundles had been identified through watches, rings, keys or by other means as five women and a man who had worked on assembly lines putting together firecrackers, detonator fuses and Army training shells.

One was Mrs. Eva L. Fisher, 65-year-old mother of eight children. Another was Nelson Lord, 21-year-old bridegroom of three weeks.

The others were Mrs. Mary E. Fallowfield, 64, wife of a barber and town councilman; Mrs. Nellie Starr, 47, Mrs. Lina Mae Taylor, 41; and Mrs. Magdaline Seller, 57, of Henderson, Md.

5 Others Missing

Five other women were listed by their families as missing but it was probable the names of four could be matched with the four unidentified bundles on the armory floor. Remains of the 11th victim apparently were still buried somewhere in the maze of smouldering litter that had once been part of eight main buildings and 22 smaller structures destroyed.

While the rumor persisted that two jet planes seen flying over the plant seconds before had touched off the blaze by jarring the highly sensitive lead azide, a nitro-glycerin compound used in detonator fuses, authorities discounted the possibility.

Col. Harry S. Russell, Chestertown Civil Defense director and plant officials said "survivors know exactly which machine it (the blast) started on" in Building B, the first to blow sky high.

Mayor Philip G. Wilmer, who is also president of the company, shared the opinion the jets had nothing to do with the blast.

However, Fire Chief Alex Herzberg said he was investigating the possibility the aircraft might have been responsible.

Regardless of the cause, Army demolition experts hoped today to move the rest of the lead azide from the blast scene.

Plan Evacuation

They planned, to evacuate persons in neighborhoods bordering on the plant area during the operation. But they said they would not attempt the explosive removal if any fire or sparks remained in the area.

At the height of the chaos caused by the explosions, an estimated half of Chestertown's 3,100 residents evacuated the town, on foot and by car, clogging highways in all directions.

Sheriff Bartus Vickers ordered everyone out of town after the first muffled explosion in Building B, about 10:30 a.m. In a chain reaction, the explosions spread through the 65 buildings on the 20-acre site.

The eight larger structures blew up and 22 smaller buildings, 15-feet square and spread out for safety's sake, disappeared.

The company, one of the largest of its kind in the country, employs 275 and most employes were on hand yesterday because it was pay day.

The evacuation was under way when the explosions slacked off shortly before noon. And the mass exodus continued when word spread that the fire threatened a powder drying shed which might have taken half of Chestertown with it had it gone off.

A sudden shift of wind saved that building and the day.

Felt 16 Miles Away

As it was, the force of the explosions was felt in Centreville, 16 miles south of here and the towering columns of smoke were seen from Baltimore Harbor, 22 miles across Chesapeake Bay.

Plate glass windows throughout Chestertown's business section about a quarter mile from the plant were shattered. Many offices were closed. The bank and post office shut down and were among the buildings where guardsmen did sentry duty today.

Identification of the dead remained the chief concern of relatives and officials.

The five women listed by their families as missing, with the possibility four would be linked with the unidentified bodies, were Mrs. Margaret Emma Batchelor, 61; Mrs. Ida Benton Mench; Betty Wheedleton; Mrs. Mary Moore and Mrs. Barbara Rockerman.

Four persons have been killed in previous blasts in the 12 years the company has been operating.

Three Men Killed In Chicago Blast

CHICAGO (AP)—Three men were killed and one injured when two sharp explosions wrecked a fireworks factory in suburban Schiller Park about noon Friday.

The blasts rocked the northwest Chicago suburb and surrounding areas, sending up a mushrooming white cloud visible four miles away.

The explosions hit the Melrose Fireworks Co. It was the second such disaster for the company in a year.

Cause of the explosions was not determined.

the operator of a vehicle cannot see ahead.

Where there are double yellow lines it is illegal to pass at anytime. If there is only a single yellow line on your side of the highway, it is also illegal to pass. If the single yellow line is on the left side of the center line then passing is permissible with due caution.

"Yet how many drivers do you see who risk their necks and the lives of others by driving to the left side of the road to pass when it's obviously not safe," asks Cpl. D. M. DeWalt of the Marion highway patrol post.

HE NOTED THAT two vehicles traveling toward each other at 35 miles an hour will collide with an impact of a single vehicle striking a stationary object at 70 miles an hour.

This is why headon collisions almost always lead to one or more deaths and why it is extremely dangerous to flaunt the law, courtesy to other drivers, and good sense by driving to the left of the center line except to pass when there is an assured clear distance ahead.

Man in Parked Car Injured in Auto Accident

One person suffered injuries in the only Marion County traffic accident reported today by Marion state highway patrolmen. City police reported eight accidents.

George Schreck, 54, of near Marion suffered a sprained back, neck and right hip in an accident on Marion County Rd. 31, 1.6 miles south of Route 30-S, at 6:10 p.m. yesterday.

He was a passenger in a car operated by Robert E. Schreck, 26, of near Marion, which was parked. The parked car was struck by an automobile driven by Charles C. Cooper, 31, of 328 Reed Ave.

Patrolmen reported that Cooper was following an unknown third car on the county road which ran off the road on the left-hand side into the ditch, knocking down some fence before coming back on the road again and continuing on. Cooper, applying his brakes, slid onto the berm and struck the Schreck car.

There was extensive damage to both the right rear of the Cooper car and right front of the Schreck vehicle.

8 Marion Accidents

Marion City police today reported eight traffic accidents, including one three-car collision. Five of the accidents involved damage of less than $100 each.

The three-car accident occurred at 10:15 p.m. yesterday at W. Center and Prospect Sts. A car driven by James F. Shifflet, 24, near Marion, was traveling east on W. Center when it struck the rear of a car driven by John C. Gompf, 18, near Cardington. Police said the impact caused Gompf's car to strike the rear of one driven by Wayne Allison, 32, near Caledonia, which was stopped.

Damage was done to the rear bumper of Allison's car, the rear and front of Gompf's auto and the front of the Shiflett vehicle.

An accident involving a moving car and a parked auto at E. Mill St. and N. Main St. also was reported.

Police said a car driven by Howard E. Johnson, 28, Caledonia, was traveling west on Mill at 12:52 a.m. when it collided with a parked car owned by Frank Sterling, 159½ N. Main St. Damage was done to the right side of Johnson's car and the bumper of Sterling's auto.

The other accident, involving two cars, occurred at E. Center and Grand Ave., at 6:32 p.m. yesterday, police said. Joseph F. Henry, 41, Galion, was driving west on Center St. when he attempted to pass a parked car. His auto collided with one driven by Clyde Whitaker, 38, Cardington, which was also traveling west.

The left rear fender and bumper of the Henry vehicle and the right front fender of the Whitaker auto were damaged.

McCarthy

The Senate GOP leadership, clearly unhappy about the whole business of fights involving McCarthy, cracked down yesterday on his plan to launch public hearings in Boston today to explore his charges of Communist infiltrations of defense plants. Majority Leader Knowland of California said he didn't want any committee meeting outside Washington with the Senate holding a session here today.

McCarthy cancelled the Boston trip, and said he would hold the hearings in Washington instead, on Monday and Tuesday.

Flanders issued a prepared statement to announce his switch in plans. He said his original resolution, which would have ordered McCarthy fired as chairman of the investigations subcommittee and its parent, the Government Operations Committee, was designed "to give the Senate the opportunity to repudiate the conduct of Mr. McCarthy who has brought dishonor and disrepute upon the the Senate of the United States."

He said he was abandoning it because some senators disliked the idea of upsetting the Senate's traditional method of awarding chairmanships on a seniority basis.

"Rather than risk any possible confusion over the issue at stake in my resolution," he continued, "I am introducing a new one that will permit a clear cut vote on McCarthyism."

Secretary of State Dulles has told Mendes-France and Eden that the United States would not block their efforts to negotiate a peace based on partition of Viet Nam. But he made it clear the Eisenhower administration frowns on a plan which would place new millions under Red rule.

Long Distance Dialing Nearer Reality

THE JOYS OF INTER-TOLL dialing have been sung in Marion by long distance operators and subscribers alike for the past four years. Now, General Telephone Co. of Ohio officials are looking ahead to the day when customer toll-dialing comes to Marion and the nation.

UPPER: Mrs. Clara Kannel, chief operator, and Howard G. Duhamel, chief equipment engineer, stand before a large board which the local company is using to explain operator inter-toll dialing and ultimate customer toll-dialing to interested groups throughout Ohio. Duhamel, who designed the electric-powered working-model board, has been in on numerous planning sessions of Ohio telephone men in the last several years, leading up to the assignment of the number codes as indicated on the board.

LOWER: Sharon Hinton, a long distance operator, is shown at her position on the toll board, key pulsing an inter-toll call through on the typewriter-like keys in front of her. Using these keys, the operator can place a long distance call to a distant city within a matter of seconds.

Day Not Far Away When One Can Call Directly To Distant Points

It won't be long now before you will be able to pick up the phone, dial Aunt Helen's number in California, and be wishing her a happy birthday in a matter of seconds, just as quickly as you could call Aunt Mary right here in Marion.

Sound like a space-ship yarn to you? Marion officials of the General Telephone Co. of Ohio are expecting this continent-wide customer toll-dialing to be a reality within ten years.

MARION, with its operator inter-toll dialing inaugurated in April of 1950, is already well under way in the second stage of the customer toll-dialing program, they point out.

Approximately 60 per cent of all long-distance calls currently handled by the local toll board are dialed directly to the called station by the operator with the first voice heard by the subscriber being that of the party answering in the distant city.

The idea for inter-toll dialing started nationally around 1940, when representatives of the telephone industry met to start building plans for its eventual nation-wide adoption.

In Ohio, representatives from the local telephone company met with representatives of Ohio Bell and independent companies to make sure Ohio would be ready to join the national swing to inter-toll dialing.

By 1950, when the company installed its inter-toll dialing equipment, everything was ready for the new development here. In the four years that the system has been in use locally, operators have nothing but praise for it.

PERHAPS THE GREATEST advantage of inter-toll dialing is its speed, operators and subscribers report.

Here's how it works:

A Marion subscriber dials the long distance operator and tells her that he wishes to speak to Mr. Jones in Springfield, for example, giving Mr. Jones' telephone number, if he knows it.

In front of the operator's position at the toll board is a series of keys, similar to those found on typewriters, bearing numbers beginning with zero and ending with nine, and the letters of the alphabet.

This is the "key pulse" set. It is associated with the circuit cords on the toll boards. If the operator is not familiar with the code number of the city being called, she first looks it up in a multi-leaf file located at her position.

She next depresses the key pulse key, getting the sender light which indicates that the equipment is ready to receive the code for dialing the number. She then punches the code number of the city and the telephone number of the person being called.

WHEN SHE RELEASES the start key, the code and telephone number goes through the cord and into the equipment to the terminating telephone number.

All of these steps are accomplished swiftly, so that the Marion subscriber, within a matter of seconds, is hearing Mr. Jones answer his telephone in Springfield.

There were many problems that the telephone industry had to solve, however, before even operator toll dialing came into being.

For example, to make customer toll-dialing a natural follow - up step to operator inter-toll dialing, telephone officials had to map out the entire continent into a series of 98 code numbering areas.

In Ohio, northwestern counties are 419 northeastern, 216; southwestern, 513; and southeastern, where Marion is located, 614.

UNDER THIS PLAN, all telephone numbers throughout the country eventually will contain two-letter prefixes and a five-digit numerical number. This combination is referred to as 2-5 numbering plan. Combined with the area's three-digit code, the subscriber's telephone number for purposes of customer toll-dialing will consist of 10 digits. In this way a maximum number of telephone numbers becomes possible with no duplication.

With these developments in the telephone industry in the last several years, it is not hard to believe that the next decade will see customer toll-dialing in effect.

Trial

Mrs. Small was not in the court room at the time of the verdict.

Family and friends declined to disclose her whereabouts today. The three young sons of the Smalls were at the Detroit home in charge of a maid. They have lived there with the mother since their parents separated in May.

Shout for 10 Minutes

Judge Raymond L. Smith required some moments to restore order. It was 10 minutes before the spectators quieted.

Michigan law requires that Dr. Small be kept in a state hospital until the state decides that he is sane, or insane. This means he could be released at an early date, or never.

On petition of Defense Counsel Leo Hoffman the court granted a week's stay of the commitment order pending a plea for a writ of habeus corpus. Prosecutor Dwight M. Cheever had asked immediate commitment.

Dr. Small was returned to jail pending obtaining of the writ.

The jury had a choice among four verdicts — guilty of first degree murder as charged, or guilty of second degree murder, manslaughter, or innocent by reason of insanity.

Had Dr. Small been convicted of first degree murder, he would have been sent to prison for life. This would have been mandatory under the law.

A stark story of family tragedy came out in the five days of emotion-laden court testimony.

Until the pretty and gay Edith met Lack on her Florida vacation with her three sons last March, the Smalls to all appearances were the happiest of families.

Neighbors so related, telling of the fondness of the couple for each other and their children.

Then the infatuation of Mrs. Small for the "other man" intruded.

On the witness stand Mrs. Small, amid tears, said she told her husband of losing her heart to Lack.

Dr. Small, a slim six-footer, also wept while testifying in corroboration of much of his wife's story.

At one point, choking on his words, he told of a conversation with his wife. He had resisted her demand for a divorce.

"I said to her," he said, " 'Edie, does he want to marry you? Does he love you?' Edie answered, 'I don't know. But I love him.' "

At the same time Mrs. Small said it was not only her affection for Lack that led her to desire a divorce but an accumulation of disagreements with her husband.

There were these other developments:

A Vermilion, Ohio, woman reported a tall, bushy-haired man—ticketless and nervous—boarded a Baltimore-bound bus near the Sheppard home early July 4. Sheppard has described the intruder in his home as tall and bushy haired.

Sheppard told a reporter he had given "to proper authorities" names of "several suspects" he thought might be insane and who may have been admiring his pretty wife.

Authorities continued to hold a 23-year-old divorcee, Mrs. Jessie M. Dill, as a material witness but said they hadn't come to any conclusions about her story.

She volunteered information to them yesterday. Officers didn't elaborate on what she said, but said most of her story could have come from reading Cleveland newspapers.

However, according to Sgt. Jay Huback of the Bay Village police department, Mrs. Dill came out with some things that had "not been published and we consider it important enough to hold her as a material witness until we can check it."

Cleveland Breaks Slump, Belts Athletics for 18 Hits

Smith, Philley and Dente Set Pace as Garcia Wins Twelfth

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' dean, 35-year-old Bob Feller, is entrusted today with the slim half-game lead the Tribe holds on first place in the American League.

Bob, seeking his seventh victory and sixth in a row, will try to make it a three-game sweep over Philadelphia's Athletics before Cleveland moves on to Washington for a Sunday doubleheader and a Monday game as the second installment of the eastern swing.

In his last three games, Feller has gone the full distance and in the 27 innings has given up only four runs and 16 hits. Those three games were his only starts in the past month.

In beating the Athletics 9-3 last night, the Tribe ended a hitting slump by whacking Arnold Portocarrero and two relief hurlers for 18 hits. Outfielder Al Smith got four of them, and Dave Philley and Sam Dente made three each. Philley hit his 11th homer with nobody on in the fourth.

Mike Garcia, apparently still bothered by a sore finger, had to leave after pitching six innings in which he gave up all eight of Philadelphia's hits and the Athletics' three runs. Ray Narleski pitched hitless ball in the last three frames. The victory was the 12th for Garcia against five setbacks.

The Tribe broke the game wide open in the fifth with three runs on five hits—a triple by Smith, a double by Bob Avila, a pop double by Al Rosen, a single by Philley and a double by Dente. Sonny Dixon took over the A's pitching at the start of the sixth.

The only run in the first three innings was an unearned marker for the Indians resulting from Jim Finigan's error on Rosen's liner, a single by Philley and a pair of flies, Dente getting the sacrifice.

Each club scored twice in the fourth. Cleveland got its two on Philley's homer and Dente's double to the wall after Bill Glynn beat out an infield single. Finigan singled in the A's half and scored on a double by Bill Renna who was out at third, but a walk, Bill Wilson's double and Joe Demaestri's fly brought home another tally.

Avila's double and Rosen's single made the Tribe's lead 7-2 in the sixth, and two unneeded runs came home in the seventh on four hits—Glynn's triple, singles by Dente and Garcia, and Smith's double.

Claire Doran Cops Title, Nips Diringer

CINCINNATI (AP)—For the fourth time in five years and for the third consecutive season, Claire Doran, the Cleveland school teacher, is the best of the Ohio amateur women golfers.

She took the Ohio women's golf title yesterday in a match over her old friend and foe, Carol Diringer of Tiffin.

Miss Diringer, the winner in 1951, has been runnerup to the school marm the last three years.

The Cleveland woman downed Miss Diringer 5 and 3 in the 36 hole final. More than 100 women attempted to get into the event Monday. The 16 qualifiers played 18 holes Tuesday and the winners of the matches continued with 18 holes Wednesday and Thursday.

Trabert, Larsen Meet for Spot In Net Finals

CHICAGO (AP) —Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, the nation's top rated singles player, must get by Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., today to enter the finals of the National Clay Court Tennis Tournament.

Larsen, seeded third in the tourney, has been playing excellently and received some encouragement yesterday when fourth-seeded Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., beat the defending champion and No. 2 seed, Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 7-5, 6-4, 6-2 in the first semifinals match of the men's division.

Bartzen thus won the right to meet the winner of today's match between topseeded Trabert and Larsen in Sunday's finals.

One finalist for the women's championship match was determined yesterday when second-seeded Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., beat Lois Felix of Meriden, Conn., 6-3, 7-5. Miss Hart qualified to take on either top ranked Maureen Connolly of San Diego, or Karol Fageros of Miami, Fla.

Cincinnati Able To Win Close Tilts, Moves Ahead of Braves

JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati's spectacular success in the tight one-run decisions has catapulted the Redlegs into third place today within striking distance of the fast-fading defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers.

In the last 15 games of which Manager Birdie Tebbetts' scrappers have won 11, the Reds have engaged in 11 one-run decisions—and they won eight of them. During the entire season, Cincinnati has played in 38 such games, winning 23, and losing 15.

The Reds grabbed another close one yesterday as they swept a twi-night doubleheader from Philadelphia's Phillies 7-6 and 9-4. The night before they had edged out the Phillies 2-1 and 4-3 to spoil the managerial debut of Terry Moore Since replacing Steve O'Neill as Philly manager, Moore has seen his team lose four straight games

Yesterday's double win boosted the Reds into third place, seven games below the Dodgers who dropped their third straight to Milwaukee 6-1. The defeat spoiled the Dodgers' chances of picking up ground on the league leading New York Giants who remained 6½ in front despite their 5-4 loss to St. Louis. The Braves' triumph gave them undisputed possession of fourth place with Philadelphia dropping to fifth only a half game ahead of St. Louis.

Cleveland's Indians protected their half game margin over New York in the American League with a 9-3 shellacking of the Philadelphia Athletics. The Yankees ran their winning streak to 11 games shading Baltimore 3-2. Chicago's third place White Sox remained four games off the pace defeating Washington 4-2.

In other games, Boston's Frank Sullivan pitched his second straight shutout, downing Detroit 3-0 with three hits and Chicago's Cubs came from behind to nip the Pittsburgh's Pirates 3-2 behind Bob Rush's six-hitter.

Gus Bell, who Manager Tebbetts claims is a better centerfielder than Willie Mays or Duke Snider, paced the Reds to their twin triumphs. He drove in eight runs, six in the second game with a pair of homers and a double. He currently is batting 341 and had driven in 74 runs. The Reds won the opener in the 10th on Chuck Harmon's single with the bases loaded.

A crowd of 41,778, second largest in Milwaukee history, watched Gene Conley handcuff the Dodgers with five hits and strike out nine as he gained his eighth victory of the year and his third without a defeat over Brooklyn. Second baseman Danny O'Connell and catcher Del Crandall drove in two runs each for the Braves as Carl Erskine went down to his ninth defeat.

After dissipating a 4-1 lead in the eighth, the Cardinals roared back with a run in the ninth to nip the Giants. Ray Jablonski delivered a two-out single that scored Wally Moon with the winning run off reliever Marv Grissom. Stan Musial hit his 27th home run for the Cardinals and Willie Mays slammed his 32nd for the Giants.

Irv Noren's homer with two out in the ninth enabled the Yankees to tie the majors' longest winning streak of 11 set last May by Cleveland.

Held to two hits through six innings, the White Sox tied the score at 1-1 in the seventh and broke loose for three more runs against Dean Stone in the eighth to give reliever Sandy Consuegra his 11th victory. A double by Chic Carrasquel and singles by Minnie Minoso, Ron Jackson and Matt Batts featured the winning attack.

Sullivan, Boston's 6-7 righthander permitted only one Tiger to reach second. A two run error by Ted Lepcio and Jackie Jensen's single provided Boston with all its runs.

Gene Baker's triple in the ninth scored Bob Talbot, who had singled, with the run that broke a 2-2 tie and gave the Cubs their third straight over the Pirates.

New Management Begins Operation of Speed Bowl

The Marion Speed Bowl will open Sunday night under the management of Roy R. Hobson, well-known Marion stock car driver. The track has been idle for the past two weeks.

Hobson is expecting a record-number of cars for the opening session. Cars and drivers have been registered from Tiffin, Attica, Kenton, Richwood, Delaware, and other cities in the Marion area.

Gate receipts, after taxes, will be shared by the drivers, Hobson has reported.

Two division will be held tomorrow. One will be for sportsman type cars and the other will feature strictly stocks. Both divisions will be run as open competition.

The track has been almost completely rebuilt by Hobson and his workers Particular emphasis has been placed on dust control and the track and all roadways leading into the grounds have been treated.

The Marion Speed Bowl is located north of Marion just off Route 23. A full racing program is slated which will include the figure eight and suicide events. Time trials are slated for 7 p.m. with the first race getting under way at 8.30.

Local Club Nips Pleasant-Waldo

Marion's Indians were 5-2 winners over the Pleasant-Waldo squad in a Marion County Teen League contest at Lincoln Park Thursday night.

Phil Carroll and Larry Corbin combined to hold the losers to two hits and a run in the first and one in the fifth while striking out nine for the win.

The winners erupted for all their runs in the first four frames off Augenstine, netting one in the first, one in the second, two in the third and one in the fourth. Leffler took over mound duties in the fifth for the losers. The hurlers were tapped for 11 hits while fanning six.

Jones, Howard Gruber and Marion Delaney accounted for six of the Marion hits, each banging out two. Ted Middleton cracked out a homer. Peacock and Owings got the losers' hits.

Eaton and Erie Post Industrial Loop Verdicts

Eaton trampled Baker Wood 20-7 and Erie Railroad No. 2 nipped Pollak Steel 7-6 for Industrial League No. 2 verdicts last night at Garfield Park. C & O was awarded a 7-0 forfeit win when General Telephone failed to field a team.

The Erie team forged to a 3-0 lead with single tallies in the first three innings. Pollak came back to narrow the count to 3-2 in the top of the fourth before the Railroaders plated three in the bottom of that frame. Two runs were scored by Pollak in the fifth and seventh to knot the count at 6-6. P. Hammon led off the Erie seventh with a single and managed to score the winning run with the help of an infield out and a fielder's choice.

Cottrill was the winning hurler, allowing the Steelers five base knocks. Hartley gave up eight safties to the winners. Ebert and Bromfield belted home runs.

Baker Wood jumped off early with a four-run spurt in the opening frame only to see the Eaton squad come back with five in the bottom of the stanza. The winners added five more in the second and six in the third before ending the game with a four-run mark in the fifth. Baker Wood managed to plate one in the third and two in the fifth.

Rizzo, Smith, Bailey, Gorman, Ferriman and Jaggers all collected two hits for the winners. Gorman was on the hill for the winners and gave up only three hits. Tom Watts was charged with the loss.

Old Bathroom Fixtures Bring Needless Toil

Modern Lavatories, Water Closets, Tubs Easier on Housewife

Outmoded plumbing fixtures cause American housewives many hours of needless toil. Not only are they unattractive in appearance, but worn fixtures are difficult to keep clean and are an inconvenience to the entire family

The clawfooted leg bathtub and the water closet with the overhead tank were excellent products for their day. But advances during the past 20 years have made it possible to market fixtures of greatly superior qualy,et larocidgn greatly superior quality, according to the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau

While plumbing fixtures to not "wear out," in the usual sense, improper care and cleaning of older fixtures over the years has dulled and scratched the surface of many of them to where they are drab and difficult to keep clean, Replacement of these older fixtures would save the housewife many hours of needless scrubbing. And it would provide added convenience and comfort for the entire family.

Look at some of the advances which have been made in plumbing fixtures. Modern water closets, for example, have larger passageways and a strong, positive flushing action to dispose of soil more readily. They present a large amount of water surface which minimizes soiling of the closet bowl and makes cleaning simple

Bathtubs now have a double shell which hides the iron base They are built-in slightly below the level of the floor which provides lower over-all height for ease in stepping in and out of the bath and permits a neat and practical finished installation at the floor-line Virtually all bathtubs now come with plenty of flat space around the rim

Lavatories also have undergone a transformation. Plenty of flat shelf space for convenient placement of toilet articles makes today's lavatories more utilitarian as well as more attractive than outmoded styles Mixing-type supply fittings, pop-up drains and anti-splash rims are added improvements

Modernization of your bathroom and installation of new fixtures is an investment in convenience comfort and appearace that will add substantially to the sales value of your home Moreover, by lightening her tasks, modernization of bathrooms will give the homemaker more freedom to follow her wishes.

9 Suggestions Made To Beat Summer Heat

Fans, Ice, Lightweight Drapes Among Ways To Keep Comfortable

As the hot, humid days of midsummer arrive, the average American family begins to seek ways to avoid the excessive heat

It is easy to keep any home comfortable and livable during the sweltering weather by following 9 simple rules Here they are

1 Keep windows and doors open throughout the cool hours of the night Place two or three electric fans or air circulators in windows in different rooms, facing them inward to draw cool air into the house

2 As soon as the sun rises close all windows and doors and draw the shades This will keep the interior about 10 degrees cooler than outside temperature during most of the day

3 Replace heavy draperies with lightweight mesh fabrics to let any cool breezes blow into the house

4 Light colored walls ceilings and floors add to the cool look of a home and psychologically help keep one cool

5 Slip covers for summer use on upholstered furniture should be light-colored hard or smooth-finished materials, adding to the coolness

6 Use an attic exhaust fan, or keep attic windows open 24 hours a day to insure continuous air circulation through that area.

7 Use electric lights sparingly and replace high wattage electric bulbs with lamps of less intensity

8 Prepare hot meals in the insulated oven avoiding top of the stove cooking Keep doors to the kitchen closed and open windows wide and turn on the kitchen exhaust fan while cooking to keep heat from the rest of the house

9 A bowl of ice placed in front of an electric fan during the hottest period of the day will help cool the air circulating through the house. This is the same principle on which air conditioning units operate

First Aid for the Ailing House

By ROGER WHITMAN

Q: I noted sometime ago in your column that you said heat would be increased if regular oil-paint were used instead of gold, aluminum or other metallic paints My radiators have bronze paint and they are still in excellent condition I would like to know if I can paint over them and still get the increased heat radiation Also would it be possible to use a paint-sprayer for this job? Hand-painting between all those sections would take so long

A: Yes, you can put oil paint on the radiators without first removing the metallic paint The job could be done with a paint-sprayer, but I still recommend your doing the job by hand You would have to make so many preparations to mask wallpaper, floor, woodwork, etc., around the radiator that by the time you got ready to spray you would have spent a great deal of time.

Q: Is there anything we can put on plaster walls that have a rough finish in order to make them smooth, prior to painting

A: If the walls were fairly rough, remove most of the roughness by rubbing with a coarse sandpaper wrapped around a block of wood After wiping off the dust, fill in the light indentations with spackle applied with a trowel Spackle can be bought from local paint stores and directions for mixing will be found on the box

Q: We have recently moved into a new home where all of the floors are of hardwood. While cleaning them I noticed cracks are beginning to appear between the boards I never use water for cleaning but only a damp cloth What can we do to stop the further development of cracks and what is the cause of it

A: Frequently lumber is exposed to considerable moisture and after it is put in place, the heat in the building evaporates the moisture, causing the wood to shrink There is nothing you can do to stop further shrinkage. It is possible, however that by now most of the moisture has been driven off and shrinkage has ceased In the late spring and summer the wood may absorb some moisture from the humid atmosphere and swell to some extent, closing the spaces between the boards

Q: I recently secured an old glued-up hard maple workbench, three inches thick twelve inches wide and forty-eight inches long I have split it into two rough stair treads Through the years of usage as a bench, oil and grease have seeped into the surface How can I finish the wood, if I want to preserve the natural wood grain? Is there any way of drawing out the oil

A: If the three-inch thickness is not of great importance planing off about a quarter inch of the surface should take off the stained wood and leave a clean top for staining and varnishing, if necessary If you wish to keep the full thickness of the bench, scrub the surface two or three times with a hot solution of trisodium phosphate or washing soda, using about one pound to the gallon of water Thorough rinsing with clear water is necessary.

Roller Helps Cover Large Paint Areas

It is exceedingly easy to coat a large wall or ceiling area in a short time by using a roller

Before starting with the roller use a two-inch brush to cut in" around ceiling corners and woodwork Then roll lightly and continuously back and forth

To fill in any spots you may miss, cross roll, if necessary Always finish by rolling all strokes in one direction Immediately after using it, be sure to clean your roller Use water for the purpose, if you've been working with an emulsion paint Use turpentine, naphtha or mineral spirits, if your paint had an oil base

Architect's Controversy Raised Over Basements

By DAVID G. BAREUTHER
AP Real Estate Editor

Basements today are more of a national architectural controversy than shutters on the window, frozen lace—or what kind of gingerbread do you prefer? The South, in general, is due for a shock in this controversy and so are many other parts of the country where basements are rated as excess baggage.

You can save money, all right, by eliminating a basement when building a small house. But is it a pennywise saving A basement usually is the cheapest part of a house to build. Now that basements can be kept dry and healthful so easily, a man building a permanent home without a basement runs a big risk of short changing himself.

You may dispute this, but keep your guard up for the rebuttal. The antibasement school of architects contends that you can save about $1,000 by eliminating the cellar when building an average-size house.

The probasement boys say you can have all the space provided by a dry and finished basement for no more than about $1.50 per square foot in contrast to probably $15 per square foot for construction above the ground.

THE CONSTRUCTION of watertight basements is no trick nowadays. And the waterproofing of existing basements is almost as easy with modern materials and methods. Watertight basements have been built below sea level in thousands of places and in existing basements waterproofers have stopped inflows of water at the rate of many gallons per minute.

One of the major points in this controversy seems to be the need for a basement. An expert for the Portland Cement Association says people who moved into basementless ranch - type houses "have found the walls shrinking rapidly inwards." He was referring to the need for storage space. "How can a man corral a steamer trunk, work tools, storm windows and screens into a closet-size utility room already bulging with a perambulator, golf clubs, vacuum cleaner and assorted household equipment?" he asked.

THE ANTI'S say all basements are just cellars and they're dark and gloomy. The pros say they don't have to be that way—just make the windows larger, or paint your window wells white or aluminum and you can spread cheer and sunshine under your house.

The anti's say that basements provide more space than you need. The pros reply that it all depends on how you use that space—for storage, hobbies, recreation, workshop, etc.

Stop at that workshop, say the anti's—your tools will rust; your blueprints and books will mildew.

Buy a dehumidifier, reply the pro's. And with that challenge they have something.

HAVE YOU gone down to your basement in the last few summer days and found the place damp and cool and musty?

The only way to beat this, we have found, is to pump the moisture out of the air. You can do this with an electric dehumidifer. These machines work on the refrigerator principle. A fan keeps the air circulating around a condenser coil, which instead of freezing, drips the condensation into a pan. In 24 hours, one of these machines can remove as much as 14 quarts of water from the air.

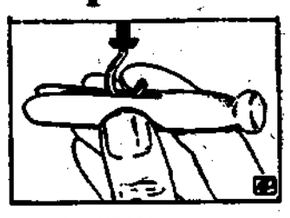
But before you buy one, try it for comparative silence. A good one should not be noisy.

VARNISH TIP

Don't shake a can of varnish or varnish - stain immediately before using. Shaking will put bubbles in the varnish. But the paint experts advise thorough stirring for enamels, digging the paddle to the bottom and stirring until the paint has an even consistency.

Crude scissors were produced in the Iron Age (500 B.C. to 100 A.D.), says the National Geographic Society.

Cup Hooks



A CLOTHESPIN is a handy tool for putting up cup hooks under a shelf. The American Home magazine suggests that this will prevent sore fingers.

Leaky Faucets Waste Water, Bureau Notes

Unnecessary Dripping Said Harmful During Shortages in Summer

More than one good thing for the home nowadays is sold as a package. Take the home heating system as an example.

Instead of buying a boiler, then so many radiators, valves, traps and other items of equipment, sold separately as in the old days, the homeowner now buys everything that it takes to provide automatic home heating comfort, all wrapped up, delivered and installed by the heating contractor as a complete merchandise unit.

Packaged heating systems, including the boiler, burner, automatic controls, accessories, draft stabilizer, and built-in tankless domestic water heater, were featured prominently at the annual National Plumbing and Heating Exposition in Washington recently.

This is the time of year when homeowners are modernizing old heating systems to restore them to a state of satisfactory operating efficiency, or replacing them with new equipment, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau points out. Modernization usually calls for new room heat distributors, and for those with boiler heating systems the choice frequently is baseboards.

There are two types of heating baseboards — finned tube and cast iron. In the finned-tube type, which sends up a blanket of warm air against outside walls and windows to keep out the cold, the heating element is concealed behind a furniture steel enclosure. Cast iron baseboards are actually radiators which replace wooden baseboards. The type most often installed provide two kinds of heat — rising warm air currents to counteract cold drafts from outside walls and windows, and radiant heat rays at ankle height to keep floors warm. Baseboard heating systems may be controlled with a simple room thermostat or the more responsive indoor-outdoor type of control, which keeps the heating plant in tune with the weather.

PAINT BRUSH CARE

To prevent a paint brush from drying and stiffening while you take time out for lunch, load the brush with the paint or varnish you are using and wrap it securely in wax paper or aluminum foil. This will keep it moist for a short recess.

To facilitate the unprecedented automobile traffic across the English Channel, a $2,000,000 terminal has been built by British railways at Dover.

Building Permits

Twelve building permits with a total valuation of $12,350 were issued at the Marion City Clerk's office during the week from July 9 through 15.

The permits were:

New Construction

Crace E. Fornay, Underwood Ave., home, $2,000.
Calvin and Ella Murphy, Tyler St., home, $1,000.
Harold Crammer, Adams and Polk Sts., home, $700.
Charles Hudnall, 660 Blaine Ave., garage, $500.
Leo Wallace, 593 Ballentine Ave., garage, $300.

Improvements

The Jim Dugan Store, 123 N. Main St., remodeling, $5,000.
Raymond and Iva Smelzer, 530 N. Main St., addition of utility room, $50.
Robert and Rose Flewellen, 502 Tyler St., addition of two porches, $1,000.
Alfred and Berniece White, 164 Jefferson St., shower bath and enclose porch, $200.
John Cantrell, 165 Latourette St., addition of room, $900.
Burton E. and Lucille Grogg, 398 Fahey St., bath and utility room, $400.
Arthur and Gladys Keirns, 300 Hane Ave., breakfast porch, $300.

Homeowner Can Buy All Parts for Comfort In One Complete Unit

With the demand for water setting a new peak in 1954, the importance of water conservation by preventing unnecessary leakage is stressed by the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Water conservation, the Bureau explains, is particularly important during the summer months when demand for water is at the highest point. One of the most important offenders in wasting water is the leaking faucet, the Bureau says.

A leaking faucet wastes far more water than most homeowners realize. A slow drip from a leaking faucet can waste as much as 450 gallons of water a month. If the trickle is only of an inch in diameter, the figure soars to 456,800 gallons of water a month.

This waste of water not only means a higher water bill but also means that valuable fuel is being wasted in heating the water, if the leakage occurs at a hot water faucet. A survey made in New York City disclosed that 200 million gallons of water a day were being wasted by leaking faucets and valves, most of them connected to obsolete plumbing fixtures.

Many older faucets are beyond the repair stage, the Bureau points out, and explains that it is cheaper to replace old faucets than to attempt to repair them.

June Construction Awards High, Says Dodge Corporation

NEW YORK — The Dodge Reports of contracts for future construction in the 37 states east of the Rockies again smashed records in June after breaking numerous other monthly records within the past year, it was announced today by F. W. Dodge Corporation.

The total of $1,773,2^1,000 was the highest for any of the 63 Junes in Dodge's history and was 43 per cent ahead of June 1953.

It rounded out the highest first half of any year with a total of $9,251,149,000, up 17 per cent from the first six months of 1953. It narrowly missed topping the total for the last six months of 1953, which was Dodge's biggest half-year.

The June total construction figure was 10 per cent behind May. June nonresidential awards of $656,445,000 were two per cent below May but 43 per cent above June 1953; residential awards were $720,266,000, down 13 per cent from May but 56 per cent above June 1953; heavy engineering, $356,553,000, down 17 per cent from May but 24 per cent above June 1953.

Individual six-month 1954 totals compared with the like period 1953 were:

Nonresidential, $3,408,009,000, up 15 per cent; residential, $3,980,691,000, up 22 per cent; heavy engineering, $1,862,449,000, up 10 per cent.

MOTHER OF 2 SLAIN

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Christine Riley, 36-year-old mother of two, was shot to death in her home late last night. Police held her husband, Willie, 45, on suspicion of homicide and said charges would be filed against him Monday. They said Riley shot his wife during a domestic argument.

Leather Kit Decorates Used Furniture

Bridge Table Top, Other Pieces Rejuvenated By New Method

Good news for the do-it-yourself devotees is that kits and directions are getting simpler all the time. These days a real amateur will not be dumfounded when he attempts to piece together the jigsaw puzzle that comes under the heading of a project "that any smart handyman can cope with." Actually that seldom has been the case.

Tasks that are pictured as very simple for neophytes turn out to be difficult even for experienced home craftsmen, in many instances. Sometimes the manufacturer even suggests that the housewife can perform miracles with a "simple set of instructions." Sometimes she can. More often she can't. And even her husband has difficulty interpreting the directions.

ONE NEW KIT, typical of those that are within the scope of tyros, contains leather and equipment for covering table tops valances, headboards, lamps and other decorative objects.

The kit, available in three sizes, includes leather squares and triangles, that are pre-cut to form four by four inch squares. There is a specially prepared adhesive, especially for use on leather. Color schemes are available in two sets — black, saddle and white or a combination of emerald, turquoise and green.

Old pieces of furniture such as chests may be decorated with these pieces of leather in an attractive design that may make the piece useful again. Doors may be removed from chests, decorated with leather and replaced when the job is complete. Bridge table tops may be rejuvenated with an interesting pattern. Some home decorators will enjoy a leather design on a window valance.

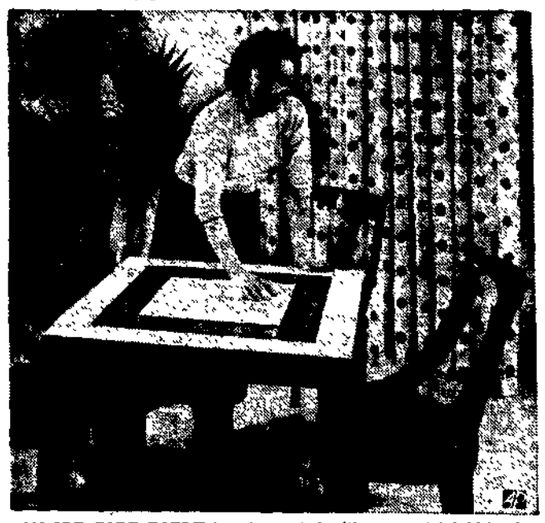
THE KIT IS easy to use. The adhesive is applied, leather is pressed carefully into place so that edges and corners are firmly glued. Excess adhesive may be wiped off the leather with a damp cloth.

Kits have been made available by upholstery leather group members in three sizes—three six and nine square feet.

LEATHER TRIANGLES in a new decorating kit come in three colors to form a mosaic type design. Adhesive is applied to the work surface in four-inch squares, as shown here. After this has dried about five minutes the leather is pressed into place with edges and corners firmly glued.



AN OLD CARD TABLE is rejuvenated with a smart inlaid leather top. The colors used for this project were white, saddle and black. Cabinet door panels, valances and lamp shades are among other places for this decoration.

Paint Remover Takes Off Furniture Finish

When the old paint coating on a piece of furniture has become so thick or rough that you wish to remove it, you can do the job with paint-and-varnish remover.

Apply it to a small area at a time and let it stand until the old coating has softened—about 30 minutes. Then do your scraping with a putty knife and steel wool.

When all the old coating has been removed, wash the piece with mineral spirits or turpentine to take off any vestiges of wax that may be left from the paint-and-varnish remover. Let the surface dry thoroughly, then apply your priming coat and — finally, your finishing coat.

DURABLE COAT

Tractors, which need to be able to take rugged treatment, are given an especially durable paint coating. To some, heated enamel is applied with a spray gun. The lasting, weather-resistant finish is then baked on at the factory.

MISTER FIVE BY FIVE

HARTFORD, Conn. — (UP) — Victor S. Grogan was born at 5:05 a.m. weighing five pounds five ounces.

YOUR HOME . . . Today and Tomorrow

By DOUGLAS TUOMEY

The homeowner who has spent time and money in an effort to paint basement walls is well aware of the fact that most paints do not easily take to cement or cinder blocks. Walls of poured concrete are a bit easier to cover, but the fact is that up to the present this particular job has been rather difficult.

It is not unusual to find, after a nicely-covered wall has dried, that numerous holes and small pits have appeared in the surface. This is caused by the extreme porosity and open texture of the surface of the average block used in house construction. In such a case the only answer is a second and, at times, a third coat; all costing additional money.

A new technique for painting interior aggregate block to eliminate the voids and honeycombs typical of such surfaces has been announced. The paint has been developed by an old and reliable firm and consists of a finely powdered marble dust mixed in a concentrated latex resin liquid, thus offering excellent filling properties combined with ease of spreading and application.

In painting basement or cellar walls the homeowner should realize that it is a waste of material to paint over old coats of paint which have proved unsatisfactory. If you want a good job you must remove the old finish. No other procedure is worth talking about.

The time you spend in cleaning down a wall will be well repaid in permanent satisfaction and a smooth-looking job. The time you spend in spreading paint over an already bad surface is wasted.

Early explorers found wild roses in New England long before settlements were established. Rev. James Rosier noted in 1605 that "wild pease and wild rose bushes" were growing on the island of Monhegan off the Maine coast.

Sun Deck Adds Outdoor Flavor

Flooring Laid Similar To Standard Porches

Sun decks are for the Riviera, the fabulous Carribean, luxury cruise ships and your own back yard.

With a little careful planning and not much money, you can capture that atmosphere of far away places. If you have room for a porch, then you've room for a sun deck.

The secret of a good sun deck is in the floor or deck. All you do is to lay your foundation timbers and joists for a conventional porch. Nail the two by fours onto the foundation joists just like porch flooring with the narrow edge exposed. Allow about one quarter to three eighths inch air space between each row of two by fours.

No painting or finishing is required, in fact it is better to leave the two by fours in their natural state for they will weather to an attractive grey

Here is truly a lazy persons's sun deck To clean, all you do is turn on the garden hose. The water washes dust and dirt right down through the cracks

Care should be taken when planning the location of the sun deck to be sure it is on the correct side of the home to get the desired sunlight. A good many sun decks are being given longer seasonal use by the addition of an eyeshade. The eyeshade is a wide-eave overhang roof which shelters a portion of the sun deck from the extreme heat of high noon and from occasional summer showers.

The overhang covers only a part of the sun deck nearest the house. When not in use, porch furniture can be kept partially protected from weathering under the overhang.

There are a few tricks of the trade which should be remembered when planning and building a sun deck. To insure rapid runoff of water, the deck should have a slight slope away from the house If you are going to have much water running down, you should install tile drains along the cement foundation wall to take off rain as well as surface water that falls through the sun deck openings

By all means, be sure your spacing between the two by fours is not over three eighths of an inch, otherwise a good many heel tips will be ruined and thin-legged furniture will be constantly catching.

The two by fours should be surfaced four sides to insure an even unbroken floor line. The sun deck may be enclosed with a simple railing or more elaborate wood fence depending on the amount of privacy required. If there are children, and the home is on a sidehill, then a tight wooden fencing is recommended Carpenters or the home handyman will find that toenailing the two by fours to the porch joists is the best way and leaves the exposed face unmarked.

In some cases a coat or two of linseed oil can be applied each spring to give some protection to the wood, although a sun deck will last indefinitely if proper drainage is provided.

Destructive Water Vapor Generated By Modern Living

Modern living in a house generates much more destructive water vapor than was the case years ago.

For example, the washing and spin drying of 10 pounds of clothes in an automatic washing machine still leaves them with approximately 10 pounds—or pints—of water in them. If these are dried indoors, there is only one place for the water to go—into the air within the house.

To further complicate all this moisture vapor generation is the fact that modern houses are smaller and there is correspondingly less volume of air into which this vapor can be dissipated

To protect the structure of your home, be sure you have adequate ventilation at all times.

Re-Enlistment Bonus Increased in Air Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Air Force sergeant completing a four-year hitch will be $516 richer, and a private first class $372, for signing up for another four years under the new armed services re-enlistment bonus law.

The old law offered $160 to each, and military leaders said the bonus wasnt big enough to keep good men from being drained off to civilian pursuits — especially in the higher grades where well-trained career men are a particular asset.

Growing Pains

Home Appearance Kept Up by Care of Backyard

By ALBERT S. FULLING
Associated Press Writer

Your slip is showing these days The garden slip, that is.

If you've ever been a daily rider on a suburban commuter train, you've learned a lot about your fellow gardeners. Their intimate flank is exposed to view if they have a cozy garden backing up on the railroad line

Possibly the front of the neat house is slick as a pink But the backyard—there is the Rub—rubbish, that is.

Every day for the past few weeks, one commuter car of gardeners has been jawing about the fellow with the couple of hundred dollarss worth of outdoor furniture, the big barbecue grill—and the messed up backyard.

HIS HEDGES, flourishing in the lushness of spring, are shaggy. The lawn area is spotty, untrimmed most of the time, and isn't neatly edged, although the contour lines are good. He's got a compost pile—at least that's what we think it is at 40 miles an hour—right smack in view of the patio area, which itself is getting weedy and seedy.

There's a vegetable garden in one corner of the approximate three-acre plot. The rows are as wavy as though he had mixed martinis with the plantings. He has everything but a good garden

The shrubs are placed properly, but unkempt. He let his tulips bloom and go to seed, without snipping off the dead flowers to give the bulbs a chance to revitalize.

THIS BOY PUT a lot of money into his garden—and he's growing toward a harvest he won't want to reap

On the other hand, as the train slows for a local station, there's a modest, gray with black trim cottage that's a knockout in the garden department Many a newspaper lowers while the admiring glances are cast from the train window.

The lawn is a smooth green, the driveway and path areas are trimmed and edged, the fruit trees are sprayed, the flower beds have seedlings which march like cadets on parade There's a play area for the kids, with swings, see-saw, and sandbox set off under a few shade trees

On warm days, an inflated wading pool is in one section Roses climb neat trellises Hedges are as trim as a teen-ager ready for his first date.

You almost get to know the people along the commuter line by the way they do their gardening. You rejoice with their successes, and inwardly groan at shoddy results

The other day, my seat partner said of one glorious garden sight, "If my dinner wasn't waiting, I'd like to get off at the next stop and shake that guy's hand—and see how he does it."

Just as in clothes, the front, side and back views tell the story. If the seams of a woman's stockings are crooked, or a man's coat jacket sags at the neck, it takes away from the over-all effect. If the hair is rumpled, or the male face unshaven, the sharp suit doesn't count.

You don't want 5 o'clock shadow in the garden

Whether there's a nosey train rider at your back, or an interested neighbor on the next street, someone's always looking.

And — so are you.

Even Temperature Shower Developed

Dialing a shower to exactly the degree of temperature desired and keeping it there is as easy as tuning in a favorite radio program with some of the latest-type shower control valves

The manufacturers of showering equipment have successfully solved the problem of how to maintain an even shower temperature regardless of sudden fluctuations the hot and cold water supply lines

This is accomplished by means of a mixing valve, of which several different basic types are made, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau explains. Without going into technical differences, it can be said that each type accomplishes the same end-result—a shower temperature that remains the same from the time the bather steps under the showerhead until he steps out again.

Shower mixing valves have a single handle, which makes it easy for the bather to establish the exact water temperature desired, the Bureau says This is an obvious advantage over the conventional two handle fitting, in which first one faucet, then the other has to be adjusted to compensate for changes in hot and cold water supply line pressures

Some mixing valves offer added protection to the bather by shutting off the shower automatically in the event of a complete failure in either the hot or cold water supply line Once the flow of water has been restored to the interrupted line, the shower then automatically resumes'

Modern showerheads are self-cleaning That is, they are so designed that they wash out sediment before it accumulates to clog up the water outlets. The better types may be adjusted by the bather to provide anything from a gentle rain shower to a tingling, stimulating needle spray, or a drenching, soaking rinse.

Drought Being Felt in Ohio

Farm Ponds Answer Water Shortage

By BILL TERRY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The drought has begun for some Ohio farmers and indications are before year's end farm water shortages will be as severe as they were in 1953.

Already some have begun buying and hauling water, an expensive procress. And continued hot and rainless days will force more and more farmers to bring in water from outside for their livestock, farm experts say.

Few Have No Problem

John Ferguson, chief of the Land and Soil Division of the State Natural Resources Department, says a poll shows only four counties that have no serious farm water problems—Van Wert, Shelby, Hardin and Seneca.

The same poll of agriculture extension agents shows that 33,000 of Ohio's 200,000 farmers are seriously in need of more water.

If Ohio should experience a worse drought than last year's, says Ferguson, the total will soar by many thousands.

State Agriculture Director A. L. Sorensen says the short supply of water is one of the major problems facing Ohio farmers today.

"We need a lot of well constructed farm ponds to hold back the water that gets away from us," he says. "Every farmer should review his water supply for both crops and livestock. Water supply is one of the limiting factors in farm production."

He said some farmers have begun the expensive process of hauling water and other farm experts backed up his statement.

Ferguson says there should be 30,000 more farm ponds, well constructed so they won't fill up with silt in a few years. Some were built last year, but thousands more are needed.

1,005 Built Last Year

Tom Kennard, state conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service of Ohio, says his agency gave technical advice last year in construction of 1,005 farm ponds. It also helped farmers to put to use 406 hillside springs by channeling water trickling downgrade into reservoirs. It's too late to build more ponds for use this year, he said, because the chances are they wouldn't fill up.

His agency helps by determining the need for a farm pond, testing the soil to find the best location, giving specifications for a sound pond, and inspecting the work after it is finished.

Hundreds of other ponds were built without the SCS technical help, and the total of ponds put in last year is not tabulated.

Human nature is hard to change. Many Ohio farmers hope for the best but fail to plan for the worst.

Farm experts believe thats one big reason water shortages hit the same farmers year after year.

"People just don't plan ahead," is the way its put by Ferguson. "It's rather surprising to me that some farmers have been hauling water for 20 years," says Kennard.

Experts say it would be smart farming to build farm ponds and divert springs to capture for use later water that ordinarily gets away. That would give farmers water for a sunny day, when its needed.

"In the spring, the farmers see one nice rain and figure there will be no drought later on," said Ferguson. "But they get fooled time and again, and they end up hauling water.

"Some farmers always will haul water rather than build ponds, but it can become expensive. Water costs $8 to $12 a load, and that can add up to $10 to $15 a week. Add that to the feed bill for dairy cows and it's an important thing."

Digging Hole Not All

Some farmers can't build ponds because of the nature of their land. Digging a hole in the ground isn't all there's to a farm pond.

It should be six to eight feet deep, so the water won't evaporate during a series of hot days, and should be fenced to keep livestock out and have a protected watershed so it won't fill up quickly with silt.

Effective ponds can't be built in some counties because of the nature of the soil or because the land is too flat. Ferguson said plenty of technical advice is avilable from the SCS, county extension agents, private engineers and commercial contractors.

There are about 6,000 good farm ponds in Ohio now, and about 4,000 others that are useful, he says. But there's still a need for about 30,000 more ponds.

A good pond will cost about $500 or $600, just for the excavation, says Ferguson, with bulldozing costs running about 35 cents a cubic yard of earth or $10 to $12 an hour.

To this cost must be added the amount spent for fencing, water pipe, pumps and dams — if they are needed.

He has no figures, but Ferguson said indications are more ponds were built this year than last.

Ferguson would like to see 14,000 hillside springs developed into water suppliers. Hillside water seepage can be guided into tanks for use later on, he said.

If farmers would dig more cisterns and catch water that runs off roofs of houses and barns when it rains, that alone would solve many water shortage problems, Ferguson believes. He recommends this for areas where farm ponds are impractical.

Farm water shortages become most acute in the three tiers of counties north of the Ohio River.

HOSPITAL DEDICATION SET

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP)—The new Barberton Citizens Hospital, built at a cost of $3,400,000, will be dedicated today. The 251-bed institution will be staffed by about 150 Akron and Barberton physicians and surgeons, with more than 450 persons on its payroll.

Spark plugs must operate in 1,500 degrees temperature, give off between 1,000 and 2,000 sparks a minute and withstand explosive pressures as high as 500 pounds a square inch.

Galion

Upon completion of a wedding trip through the southern states, Mr. and Mrs. V. Beckley Tavan will return to Galion to make their home. They were married Sunday, July 11, in Columbus at 11 a.m. The bride's uncle, Rev. Ward Hartman, formerly of Galion and missionary to China, officiated for the single ring ceremony. It was performed in St. John's Evangelical Protestant Church. The bride is the former Trevelyn Lucille Plack Sorrells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Plack.

Until their apartment here is ready for occupancy, the couple will live with the bride's parents.

The bride's cousins, Miss Rachael Hartman of New York City and Ward Hartman Jr., of Columbus, attended the couple.

A wedding dinner for the immediate families was held at the Columbus home of Rev. and Mrs. Hartman.

The bride was graduated from Galion High School in 1943. She is employed by the Northern Ohio Telephone Co. in Galion. Mr. Tavan is the son of Mrs. Olive Tavan of Apple Grove, W. Va. He is a veteran of the U. S. Navy and is employed by the Galion Iron Works and Manufacturing Co.

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Gladys M. Clark and Peter N. Maiyer. They have returned from a wedding trip and established a home here.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Herbert S. Garnes Jr., pastor of the First Lutheran Church, at the parsonage July 3. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ernst of Bucyrus, brother-in-law and sister of the bride, were the only attendants.

Mrs. Maiyer was formerly employed at the Wilkins Air Force Depot, Shelby. Her husband is employed at the Perfection Steel Body Co. here.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew L. Loekstra have been back in Galion for several days this week and friends are learning of their marriage which was quietly solemnized in June. Rev. R. R. Ellisker, pastor of First Evangelical and Reformed Church, officiated for the ceremony at the parsonage on the evening of June 3. They were unattended.

Mr. Hoekstra, a prominent business man of Galion for many years, and his bride, the former Adaline Neiswinter of Rocky River, spent a couple of weeks on the Great Lakes in Mr. Hoekstra's cruiser, sailing out of Sandusky.

The couple are residing in Rocky River, but will spend several days each week in Galion during which time Mr. Hoekstra will attend to his business interests here. These include the Hoekstra Coal and Supply Co. and the Buckeye State Bank.

Gus Bell Leads Cincy's Sweep From Phillies

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds moved into third place last night behind the torrid bat of center fielder Gus Bell.

The Reds downed the Philadelphia Phils twice—the second double header they've swept from the Phils in as many twi-nights—winning the first 7-6 in the 10th inning and the second 9-4 on Bell's pair of homers and a double.

The 25-year-old Bell drove in six runs in the nightcap and produced two in the opener on four hits to up his average to .341. He has driven in 74 runs this season.

In each game, the Reds had to come from behind, a trick they're getting adept at and one that put 20,878 fans on the edge of their chairs in Crosley Field.

The Phils scored single runs in the first, fourth and fifth frames of the opener, each of the scorers getting on base initially through walks. Three Red pitchers gave up five to Richie Ashburn and another quintet to an assortment from Terry Moore's squad.

The Reds went into the lead on a four-run spree in the fifth, highlighted by Bell's two-run two-bagger. Catcher Ed Bailey's homer brought in two more runs. But that old Red nemesis came back to haunt them as Danny Schell homered off Moe Savransky in the eighth with one aboard and Bobby Morgan hit for four bases in the ninth to knot the game.

Morgan's smash came off reliefer Frank Smith, who went on to post his fourth win against one loss.

The Reds loaded the bases in the 10th on a walk to Johnny Temple, an intended sacrifice which landed Bailey safely on first, and a walk to Lloyd Merriman. With only one out, a long fly ball would have done the trick, but Chuck Harmon singled in Temple with the game-winning tally.

Ex-Red Herm Wehmeier faced ex-Phil Karl Drews in the second game, but neither lasted the route. Drews left first, however, Wehmeier waiting until the five-run eighth.

Bell's homer with one aboard and a double by Wally Post put the Reds into a 3-1 lead in the third inning. The Phils forged in front again with a pair of runs in the fourth and a single run in the fifth. Bell's two-bagger in the lower part of that inning drove in the tying run.

For the third time in the last four winning contests, the eighth frame was the counting one. Johnny Temple's triple was followed by Andy Seminick's grounder, which enabled Temple to get home and Seminick to first safely. Joe Nuxhall, who won his fourth game in six decisions, got to base on a walk but was forced out on Harmon's grounder. Roy McMillan singled, and with the two men aboard, Bell smashed his 14th homer of the year.

Palmer Meets Roll for Crown

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Former Coast Guardsman Arnold Palmer of Cleveland and 25-year-old Bob Roll of Greenville tee off today in the finals of the 48th Ohio Amateur Golf Championship at the Sylvania Country Club course.

Palmer didn't get a break in all of yesterday's 36-hole semi-final round, but displayed a sharp enough iron to dispose of Youngstown's Steve Pipoly, 6 and 5. Palmer never left himself putts of more than 10 feet to finish eight under par in the last 60 holes of the tournament.

Roll, runner-up for the crown in 1950 and a semifinalist last year, took advantage of Bud Anderson's fatigue to win, 6 and 4. Anderson, an Alliance factory worker, said he was so tired he could hardly get started.

The 25-year-old Palmer is trying to become the first man in 12 years to retain his title won on his home course, Pine Ridge, near Cleveland. Frank Stranahan turned the trick in 1941-42.

Roll has made six unsuccessful attempts to win the crown and Palmer is a heavy favorite to win this time.

Playground at Church Holds Showing of Pets

Pet show honors at the Central Christian Church playground yesterday morning were won by Fred Jones of 242 N. Grand Ave. for his dog, "Tuffy," who was labeled "first prize," and by Earl Crall of 367 Nunn Ct. for "Whitey," his rabbit, second.

This was the Friday special event for this week. Consolation prizes went to Franny Voll of 327 Lafayette St. for the "most unusual" entry, two baby rabbits; Phil Reid, 147 N. Vine St., for the "animal with the best manners," his cat, "Salty"; to "Mitzi," dog owned by Dr. A. M. Mogg of 510 S. Vine St. for the "animal with the best hairdo," an extra entry by one of the children.

Special event on Friday next week at the playground will be a game of intermediate softball scheduled with a group coming from Lincoln Park directed by W. O. Cover. Time of the game will be 10 a.m. A return game will be played the following Friday at the park. The church's summer playground program is under direction of Rev. Joseph Dupuis, the congregational's educational assistant.

AA Contenders Belted, Indians Increase Lead

By The Associated Press

St. Paul and Louisville continued to slip out of leadership contention, leaving Indianapolis a lonely 10½-game frontrunner, as they dropped vital games Friday night.

St. Paul bowed to the league-leaders 6-0 while Louisville was losing to Columbus 3-2.

That meant the Indians could boast a 10½-game edge on St. Paul and an 11-game margin over Louisville—the only teams within even remote reaching distance.

In other results Friday, Charleston made a bid to break out of the cellar with a 4-2 verdict over seventh-place Toledo, and Kansas City, the fourth-place club, beat Minneapolis 4-1.

Sam Jones pitched the Indianapolis shutout, allowing only one hit. He struck out 14 batters and walked only three.

Louisville fell victim to rookie relief pitcher Barney Schultz' best performance of the season. He held the Colonels scoreless through the last seven innings after spelling starter Herb Moford in the second inning with two runs home and the bases loaded.

Wilhelm Team, Goodyear Win Make-Up Tilts

Wilhelm and Goodyear posted wins last night in Little League make-up contests at Robert Scott Field.

The Wilhelm nine squeezed by Hinton 9-8 in a National League tilt while Goodyear walloped National City Bank 16-1 in the American League struggle.

Three runs in the final frame accounted for the Wilhelm victory as Hinton fell short with a two-run rally in the last of that inning.

The winners led off with three runs in the opening inning, then added one in the fifth and two in the sixth before the seventh inning outburst. Hinton scored three in the second and fifth frames.

Doug Bailey, relieved by Dan Wendell in the seventh, recorded his fifth win of the year against a pair of loses, allowing only nine hits. The hurlers struck out nine and walked seven and hit a batsman. Losing hurler was Bob Kannel, who entered the tilt in relief of starter Joe Ansley in the seventh. They were tagged for 13 hits while fanning eight and walking one.

Vance Creviston knocked out his second and third homers of the season and a double to lead the Wilhelm hitting attack. Donald Long, Larry Prude, Robert Wilson and Jen Wilson all added two hits apiece. Wilhelm's top slugger, Harl Evans, was sitting out a suspension handed out by the Baseball for Boys Commission. John Maag, Ansley and Dave Grumblatt led Hinton with two hits each.

Jerry Smith silenced National City Bank on two hits as his Goodyear squad blasted out a lopsided win over the Bankers in a four-inning tilt called due to the league 10-run rule.

Smith received credit for his first win of the year against a pair of setbacks. He fanned four and walked two, hitting a batsman. Losing hurler was starter Forrest Reichardt, now 1-2, who gave way to Roger Graff in the third. The pair of hurlers was touched for nine hits while fanning three and walking three and hitting two batters.

Goodyear opened with two runs in the first and then added eight in the second, three in the third and three in the fourth. The Bankers were blanked until the fourth, when they netted a run on their only two hits.

Dwight Whetro, John Romano and Larry Aldrich paced the Goodyear hitting assault with two hits each. Pete Portetas and Gary Wilcox collected the Bankers' safeties.

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Thoughts Can Change Your Life

"I really believe the reason many people are not well is that they are being poisoned by a continuous succession of small thoughts," said a well known physician

DR. PEALE

I had never heard it put quite that way before and was impressed by the remark. The doctor went on to say that he was putting less and less medicine in the mouths of his patients and giving them more and more "medicine" by way of the eyes and the ears in the form of positive and creative thinking. "Much human illness," he continued, "begins in the mind and is the result of the way we think"

He illustrated his point with a story about a man who had bought some new shirts with French cuffs, the kind you fasten with cufflinks. And someone gave the man a beautiful set of cufflinks But the links always seemed to disappear just when he wanted to wear his shirts with the French cuffs. This exasperated the man and he would shout at his wife and blame her because she didn't keep things in their proper place This in turn upset her and she retorted with accusations of her own This foolish quarrel led to one thing and another, and finally they were in the divorce courts. Moreover, the man had become a problem for his physician. But, when they got to the bottom of the whole thing, it was all the French cuffs. He had destroyed his marriage and himself by unimportant puny thoughts which he had allowed to become magnified into tremendous conflicts.

"It is this kind of thing," my doctor friend told me, "that takes happiness and well-being from life A cure is to fill our minds daily with big and creative thoughts"

AND WHAT DO WE MEAN by big thoughts· It's just as simple, for example, as to go out and look up at the sky That vastness of blue by day, and star-studded, moon-bathed canopy by night is a constant reminder of the things that are eternal, the things that remain, while men and their petty problems come and go

How well Emerson expressed it when he wrote, "The sky is the daily bread of the soul."

So if someone says something that annoys and irritates you, look up at the sky and bring its bigness down into your mind. Practice thinking on a big scale, about the world and its problems instead of your own small concerns. Think big thoughts of charity, good will and forgiveness. Cram the mind with hopefulness and faith.

Life can be either a great experience for us or a small one, depending on the quality and character of the thoughts we think. When you change your thoughts from petty, minor ones to enlarged ideas, you will make of yourself a bigger and better person. It is immense and almost unbelievable, the power of the uplifted thought. As the famous psychologist, William James, said, "The greatest discovery of my generation is that human beings can alter their lives by altering their attitudes of mind."

CREATIVE THINKING can give you a perpetual source of mental, spiritual and physical rejuvenation It can give you a sense of tingling good health. It can make possible a fresh and delightful and eager appreciation of life and its constructive opportunities, which is characteristic of those who have changed their lives by changing their thoughts.

Wher eyou can find these new thoughts? You can find them in association with alive, alert and stimulating people. But, best of all, you can find these great thoughts in one book which is a treasure chest of the most creative thoughts of all time That book is, of course, the Bible, and in its pages there is a wealth of ideas that have changed not only men's lives, but indeed the whole course of human history. Get the habit of reading and studying it, and so begin to change your thoughts and change your life

Group at LaRue Plans Jubilee for Kindergarten Fund

A second annual jubilee program to benefit the proposed LaRue kindergarten has been scheduled for the nights of Aug. 13 and 14.

At a kindergarten committee meeting last Monday night, extensive plans were made for the event which will be held on the village streets. Last year, a similar program was held with proceeds going to the kindergarten fund.

Again this year, the various organizations have been asked to help in some way and the committee has asked for all the assistance and suggestions it can get

On both nights, there will be square dancing on the streets. Other features will be a band concert, beauty contest, pet parade baby contest, races and games for youths, a talent show and other activities. There will be booths which will offer food and other articles for sale.

Members of the committee which has worked faithfully throughout the year include Mrs. Ed Mallett, Mrs Ben Sager, Mrs R. A. Dietrich, Mrs Wilson Blue, Mrs James Fox, Phil Sheridan, Keith Ridgway, Mrs. John Ridgway, Mrs Donald Greenwood, Mrs. Robert Cook, Mrs. Doris Virden, Mrs. Richard Roux and Mrs. Ivan Cooper.

CHURCH GROUP TO MEET

CLEVELAND (AP) — A headquarters committee of 10 will meet here Monday to choose between New York and Chicago as a site for permanent headquarters of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U S A. The committee recommendation then will go for final decision to the 163-member general board of the National Council at a meeting in New York Sept 14-15.

$376,000 Bond Issue at LaRue Will Include School, Farm Shop

A certification by the Marion County Board of Elections has been received by the LaRue Board of Education regarding the $376,000 bond issue to be submitted to the electors of the LaRue School District at the Nov. 2 election for a new elementary school and vocational - agriculture shop.

The proposed elementary school is a one-story plan housing 12 classrooms, boys' and girls' restrooms, multipurpose room with stage, kitchen and cafeteria, administration section, a clinic, teachers' restroom and boiler room.

The building will be built immediately behind the existing elementary school, thus allowing the use of the old building while the new one is under construction. The new building will be connected to the existing high school building by means of an enclosed passageway

The administration section will be the first unit in the plan, entering the new building from the high school. Thus, this function will be centrally located with respect to the entire plan The cafeteria services will be next.

The multipurpose room will have in-the-wall folding tables and in a matter of minutes can be changed from a play room or assembly room to a dining room or visual aid rooms

The kitchen will be modern, utilizing the latest school kitchen standards. There will be ranges, vegetable sinks, refrigerator, dishwashing room, serving tables to keep the food hot, a disposal system, good ventilation, light and storage.

Each classroom will be cheerful in design and color and will have an abundance of chalk board and tack board. There will be shelving in each room for books and a ventilated wardrobe in the rear of each room. The ceiling will be acoustically treated and the floor will be asphalt tile. The classrooms will have fluorescent lights.

A modern vocational agriculture shop and classroom would also be added to the high school building.

The accident occurred on Ohio 122 about 1½ miles west of Middletown.

ELEPHANT MOVES

TOKYO (UP) — Taka-Chan, a four-year-old elephant that had spent most of its life on the seventh floor of one of Tokyo's largest department stores, was led carefully down seven flights of stairs and taken off to the Ueno Zoo. A gift from Thailand nearly four years ago, Taka-chan was getting just a little too large for the department store.

As Jesus Saw Life

A Sermonette

By REV. J. RAPHAEL DALLAS
Pastor of Lee Street Presbyterian Church

Luke 19 41 — And when He drew nigh, He saw the city and wept over it.

Tears are the evidence of great pent up emotions of the heart They are the overflow of the human spirit provided by nature to relieve the inner surging of one's being.

They have a language all their own, and mostly a silent language not fully understood by even the most intimate friend. So it was when Jesus wept

FIRST, WE should try to understand the secret of His tears Certainly it included the people's past lives

He knew how wonderfully God had led them, and how miraculously God had provided for their needs in every area of their lives in relation to all that God had made possible for His people

But He also saw their future It had not been written then but He no doubt knew that "of all sad words of tongue or pen, the saddest of all are "It might have been" The first included the entire space of time during which they had mostly been unfaithful The last included all of eternity with respect to their lives and the lives of all posterity.

He saw the loss of all that belongs to lives of peace, and joy, and felt in His own soul the results of their disobedience "Weep not for me, but for yourselves, and for your children"

SECOND, WE CAN really see beauty in His tears too How unselfish, how unregretted were those tears Those were tears that touched the heart of His Father in heaven They revealed the personalities of the entire Trinity. They were coming from a fountain of God's kind of compassion

Third, there is a mystery in those tears. Why should He weep at all? It was not His fault He was not refusing to help them

Hadn't He been in their city, and all about their community, and hadn't He manifested His divine power in their very midst and in the lives of their own kin?

But they were persons, and persons are immortal beings and He knew what to us is still to this day unknowable to us about the glories of personality Personality declares immortality, and immortality declares eternity with or without God People were created and still are in the likeness of God They were rejecting Him but He couldn't help but love them even though He knew they would soon nail him to a cross

FOURTH, there surely is a voice of His tears Do they not tell us of the love He still has for us? That He still thinks of us and yearns for the full development of life's potential powers in the realm of God's will for our highest good? That He is still standing over our lives with available help?

His tears fairly scream at times "Don't go that way" and "Come unto Me and live" He keeps saying to people "remember there's coming a day when you will have a date with destiny."

LAST, to be forewarned by one who loves us is to be put on our own responsibility before the one who warns us In this case it is the Christ of God. "To live against His will for time is to live without His presence for eternity," says Ludolph And Feltham says, "He who neglects the good he might have had shall find the evil he would avoid" And now, just how is it with you? Let us know if we can help

Undecided Owners Painter's Pet Peeve

ELIZABETH, N. J.—(UP)—Alex Kalmanson, a house painter for 60 years, has had the most trouble with customers who didn't know what they wanted.

The 77-year-old painter, who learned his trade in Russia, first dabbled with brush and paint as a teen-ager in Odessa, on the Black Sea.

He came to America in 1904, settled here, and three years later opened his own contracting firm. Not only houses, but churches, schools, hospitals and industrial plants felt Kalmanson's talented brush.

Describing his customers both here and in Russia, he once said "some are good, some bad, and most are in the middle." It is a pleasure to work for somebody who knows what he wants, he said.

But when a customer isn't quite sure, "then the trouble begins."

Coypu Results in New Industry for California

UKIAH, Calif. — (UP) — A luxury fur industry has mushroomed in this northern California town almost overnight all because of an animal that resembles a cartoonist's most fiendish creation.

Endowed with reddish incisor teeth, partially webbed feet and a bare, snake-like tail, the coypu is a large aquatic rodent first introduced in the southern part of the United States from South America. Their pelts, called nutria and resembling beaver, market from $14 to $26 apiece.

First breeding place for coypu here is the 25,000-acre ranch of John P. Ornbaun, life-long resident of Mendocino County and veteran sheepherder. In conjunction with a fur concern in Berkeley, Ornbaun began his breeding and raising operations by undertaking the construction of 1,000 breeding pens.

Careful breeding and controlled weaning are eventually expected to yield 75,000 pelts annually.

Not in Social Register

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — The world's only true blue-bloods are not in a social register, according to a University of California zoologist. They are crabs, lobsters and crayfish.

In a special study of the three species of marine life, James Redmond of UCLA, found that blue blood is merely the result of a blue copper pigment. The pigment serves as a vehicle for oxygen in the three just as red iron pigment, hemoglobin, does in all red-blooded creatures.

Bucyrus' 1955 School Budget Set at $499,280

BUCYRUS—The Bucyrus Board of Education has adopted a 1955 budget, calling for expenditures totaling $499,280, an increase of $71,681 over this year's budget, School Supt. I. J. Miller announced today.

Total anticipated receipts for the coming year are $447,482. The total income and anticipated balance will fall short by nearly $20,000 of meeting anticipated expenditures, Supt. Miller pointed out.

Restoration of a three-mill levy, which is due to expire this year, has been anticipated in the budget, school board officials said. The original three-mill levy was reduced to 2.1 mills when the real estate tax duplicate was increased about two years ago, Miller stated. The three-mill levy will be submitted to voters at the Nov. 2 election.

Instruction costs, as outlined in the new budget, are increased to $336,200 from $282,510 spent this year because of a salary increase, averaging about $400 annually, voted teachers this spring and the addition of three teachers.

Supt. Miller told board members that many building improvements are being delayed because of insufficient funds.

Train Blocks Crossings, Conductor Is Arrested

A Marion railroad train conductor was arrested for blocking traffic for 17 minutes at downtown crossings, city police reported today.

The conductor, Arthur Henley Webb, 55, of 358 S. Vine St., was arrested for blocking the crossings from 3:40 p.m. to 3:57 p.m. yesterday. Police said all crossings were blocked.

Webb posted bond to appear in Marion Municipal Court today.

Erie Superintendent R. H. Lewis said the delay was caused by a defect in the train's air brakes. He said the brakes locked as the train was slowing down and the 17 minutes was spent putting the brakes back in order.

Local Legion Backs Thacker For State Post

Members of Bird-McGinnis Post 162, American Legion, have unanimously endorsed the candidacy of Fred W. Thacker for the post of state second vice commander. The election will take place at the state convention in Cincinnati July 30, 31 and Aug. 1. Thacker is a past commander of the local post and also immediate past commander of the Sixth District, American Legion.

Dennis Malloy, first vice commander, reported at a post meeting Tuesday a total of 682 members for 1954, as a result of a recent membership drive.

Announcement was made of the district junior legion baseball tournament being held here today and Sunday, by Noble Hoffman, manager. The local team, sponsored by the post, meets Marysville this morning. The Marion team holds second place in the district. The members recently were outfitted with new uniforms.

Howard Sines, second vice commander, reported that the post drum and bugle corps, the Cavaliers, will go to Portland, Ind. Sunday to participate in the mid-west drum and bugle corps competition. He also reported contests at Bellefontaine and Circleville.

Don Williams, commander, presided. A memorial was conducted by D. J. MacDonald and the charter draped for Edward Gates, a member whose death occurred recently.

RICHARD WIDMARK and Gary Cooper take each other's measure before agreeing to a desperate adventure in "Garden of Evil," a suspense drama in technicolor currently playing through Wednesday at the Ohio Theater. The Cinemascope production also stars Susan Hayward.

South Drive-In Bills 'Thunder Over Plains'

"Thunder Over the Plains" starring Randolph Scott with Lex Barker and Phyllis Kirk, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the South Drive-In Theater.

Randolph Scott enacts a Union Army officer charged with keeping law and order in the territory, although his sympathies are strongly with the Southerners and against the unscrupulous carpetbaggers from the North.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday is the technicolor musical, "Red Garters" with Rosemary Clooney, Jack Carson and Guy Mitchell.

The film recounts a tale of a man seeking out his brother's killer. The town he goes to is Paradise Lost in make-believe Limbo County, Calif. There he seeks the villain and runs into all sorts of adventures. Instead of gunsmoke, there is music and fun.

The attraction Thursday through Saturday will be "Appointment In Honduras," in technicolor and starring Glen Ford and Ann Sheridan.

The largest asteroid (minor planet) is Ceres, about 500 miles in diameter, which was discovered in 1801.

'Robinson Crusoe' Will Open Run at Palace on Sunday

"The Adventures of Robinson Crusoe," film version of the immortal classic of the adventurer who lived in isolation for 28 years, will be one attraction of a double feature Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace Theater. The picture stars Dan O'Herlihy as the famous Robinson Crusoe and James Fernandez as Friday.

Cast adrift on an island in the tropics after a violent shipwreck during a storm, Robinson Crusoe discovers that he is the only person on the island. He must provide for himself, defend himself against wild beasts and the elements, or perish. After 18 years of living alone with only a cat and dog, he finds a companion, whom he names Friday. For 10 more years they live in close companionship. Then a group of mutineers who stumble upon the island are outwitted in their murderous scheme and Robinson Crusoe and Friday maroon them on the island when they take off for England with the victorious captain and crew.

Completing the billing will be a technicolor adventure, "Tanganyika," starring Van Heflin, Ruth Roman and Howard Duff.

Heflin sets out with a safari to track down a power-crazed killer, a white fugitive from British justice who rules a jungle empire with his tribe of warriors. In the safari are an explorer, the sister of a murdered jungle scientist, and her orphaned niece and nephew.

Starting Thursday will be the technicolor production of the celebrated love story by Lloyd C. Douglas, "Magnificent Obsession." The stars are Jane Wyman, Rock Hudson and Barbara Rush.

Theme of the story is keyed to a woman's great need for the man she has most reason to hate, a man who has almost destroyed her life. An accident to Rock Hudson requires use of the only resuscitator in the area, one owned by Dr. Wayne Phillips, who perishes from a sudden heart attack when he is denied the benefit of that equipment.

And then, Hudson's reckless pursuit of Jane Wyman, Dr. Phillip's widow, results in an automobile injury and apparent blindness to her. Out of Hudson's devotion to Miss Wyman in an effort to undo his wrong comes the magnificent obsession.

'Take the High Ground' On North Drive-In Bill

"Take the High Ground!" a drama of life at an Army training center starring Richard Widmark, Karl Malden and Elaine Stewart, will be shown Sunday through Tuesday at the North Drive-In Theater.

It is the story of a group of young American kids who are inducted into the Army and learn to become infantrymen.

A first-run attraction billed for Wednesday through Saturday is "Hell Below Zero," a technicolor film starring Alan Ladd.

Action in the latter film revolves around a whale-catching vessel that is caught and crushed in the Antarctic ice.

Miss Universe Beauties Are Taller Than 'Venus'

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—How do candidates in the 1954 Miss Universe beauty contest compare, statistically speaking, with that classic of ancient Greece, Venus de Milo? Or, that contemporary of Hollywood, Marilyn Monroe.

An enterprising newsman whipped out an adding machine today, checked the figures, and found:

The 78 foreign and domestic beauties here for the pageant average an inch and a half taller than the famed sculpture but the same as Marilyn—5 feet 4.

In the bust hey measure 35 2-3 to Venus' 34¾. Miss Monroe is out in front with 37.

Hips: 35 1-3 compared with 36 for De Milo and Marilyn.

Waist: 23 2-3 compared with a petite 23 for the actress and a 28½ for De Milo. "Possibly," theorized Long Beach Independent reporter Jim Phelan, "because the girdle was not invented until about 1,600 years after Venus' time."

The tallest entrant in the contest is "Miss Rhode Island," Joyce Sandberg, 5 feet 10½.

The shortest: "Miss Thailand," Amora Asavananda, 5 feet.

Largest bust: A five-way tie at 37 inches among the Misses "Costa Rica," Marion McKeown; "Cuba," Isis Garcia; "Vermont," Georgia Lauriso; "Wyoming," Faith Radenbaugh; and "Minnesota," Dawn Joyce.

The tiniest waist is possessed by "Miss Sweden," Ragnhild Olausson — 21 inches.

The heaviest contestant is "Miss New Zealand," Moana Manley — 139 pounds. Lightest on the scales, at 100 pounds, is "Miss Singapore." Her name, by the way, is Marjorie Wee.

Cecilia Ann Dennis, 20, of Milan, Ind., who is "Miss Indiana," was a tardy arrival and Miriam Stevenson as "Miss South Carolina" arrived — minus her luggage, which got no farther than Chicago.

"Miss New Zealand" turned up sick but after a rest she headed for the beach.

Scouts at Bucyrus Will Spend 3-Day Visit in Washington

BUCYRUS — A three-day visit to Washington, D.C., is in store next week for about 50 members of Boy Scout Troop 22, sponsored by the Bucyrus Lions' Club.

The Scouts, accompanied by their Scoutmasters and several parents, will leave by train Sunday night, arriving in Washington Monday morning, and return Thursday morning.

Since last October the troop members aided by Lions Club members, parents and leaders, have raised nearly $2,900 through a series of dinners, wastepaper drives, bake sales, a sesquicentennial auction and several other projects. The various projects were conducted with all funds being reserved for the Washington trip.

Ed Koch, who recently completed 25 years in scouting, is scoutmaster of the troop. His assistants are Art Ryland, Virgil Crabtree, Carl Clady, Bill Steele, John Ehrhart and Ronnie Koch.

While in Washington, the Scouts hope to meet President and Mrs. Eisenhower. They will visit the White House and Congressman George H. Bender has planned a special recognition for the group followed by a luncheon in the Capitol.

ANTARCTIC ICE AXES are among the weapons used in the technicolor film, "Hell Below Zero," first-run attraction billed for Wednesday through Saturday at the North Drive-In Theater. Alan Ladd (right) is starred while Stanley Baker is featured.

Cooper, Hayward, Widmark Star in Ohio Theater Film

"Garden of Evil," a Cinemascope adventure film co-starring Gary Cooper, Susan Hayward and Richard Widmark, is the current attraction at the Ohio Theater. The technicolor production is billed to play through Wednesday.

The story is about three soldiers of fortune who meet in the bar of a little Mexican seaport while awaiting repairs to their boat. Susan Hayward suddenly appears to offer them a handsome price to escort her across dangerous Indian country back to her gold mine where her husband is imprisoned by a cave-in.

The prospect of gathering gold and the redhead pulls each of the men and a Mexican into the scheme. But, she proves a match for her protectors, leading them on uncharted paths to insure her objective. Members of the party fight among themselves, fight off the dangers of the country and attacks from Indians.

Starting Thursday will be another Cinemascope film in color, "The High and the Mighty," with an outstanding cast headed by John Wayne.

Other members of the cast include Claire Trevor, Loraine Day, Robert Stack, Jan Sterling, Phil Harris, Robert Newton and David Brian.

The dramatic story takes place within a period of 12 hours. The crew and passengers are introduced as they prepare to board a plane in Honolulu. Halfway through the flight an emergency arises which unmasks the emotions and true characters of the passengers and the crew.

State Theater To Show Two Technicolor Films

Two technicolor films, "Paratroopers" starring Alan Ladd and Susan Stephens, and "Jesse James vs the Daltons" with Brett King and Barbara Lawrence, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State Theater.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Blueprint For Murder" and "Call of the Wild." The former stars Joseph Cotton and Jean Peters, and heading the cast in the latter are Clark Gable and Loretta Young.

Monte Hale is the star of the film, "Outcast of the Trail," which will be the main attraction of the double feature Thursday and Friday. Completing the billing will be "Bedtime For Bonzo" with Ronald Reagan and Diana Lynn.

Saturday only, the attractions will be "Son of Frankenstein" starring Basil Rathbone and Boris Karloff, and "Blues Busters" with Leo Gorcy and Huntz Hall.

Abbott and Costello Star In One of Marion Films

"Column South" starring Audie Murphy and Joan Evans, and "Abbott and Costello Meet Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," co-starring the comedians, Bud Abbott and Lou Costello with Boris Karloff, will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion Theater.

The former is concerned with a young army officer who tries to bring peace to the expanding frontiers of 1860 America. The comedy pair in te latter film are American police officers involved with the capture of a hideous monster who is terrorizing the British capital at the turn of the century.

Billed for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Force of Evil" and "The Immortal Battalion." The former stars John Garfield with Thomas Gomez and Marie Windsor, and heading the cast in the latter is David Niven.

In "The Immortal Battalion," the story traces a group of recruits from their civilian lives through their military infancy to their coming of age as a fighting unit, a platoon. It is seen through the eyes of the men who are part of it and the women who are part of them, of the things they fight for.

Heading the double feature attraction Thursday through Saturday will be "The Man From Texas" co-starring James Craig, Lynn Bari and Johnnie Johnston. Completing the billing will be "Tulsa" with Susan Hayward, Robert Preston and Pedro Armendariz.

The former is a tale of the El Paso Kid in te lawless days of the Lone Star State.

"Tulsa" is based on historical fact and tells of the birth of the city as one of the world's greatest oil and cattle regions.

Air Force To Sell Obsolete Items at Auction in Shelby

SHELBY, Ohio (AP)—From WAC's skirts to spare parts for C-46 transport planes, most everything will be sold at one of the Air Force's biggest auctions next Wednesday at Wilkins Air Force Depot.

More than eight million dollars worth of obsolete but mostly unused equipment is going on the auction block.

Buyers from the U. S., Canada, Mexico and other countries are expected to bid for electric typewriters, flight goggles, log rollers' spiked boots and other items.

Capt. L. A. Shelton, director of the auction, says, "There are more usable items for sale at this auction than probably any of its kind ever held by the Air Force."

Capt. Shelton expects nearly 4,000 prospective buyers to inspect the sale items tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday. He estimated at least 1,000 buyers will be on hand when the auctioneer begins his chant early on the morning of July 21.

Supt. Miller said he already has received seven applications for the principalship but more applications are expected in the near future as a result of contacts made with teaching placement bureaus of several universities. Petition Doomed

FLINT, Mich. — (UP)—Robert Webber, 27, a convict at Southern Michigan Prison, told newsmen he was certain his petition would be denied when he appeared in court to ask the judge to set aside his guilty plea.

"This motion will be denied anyway," he said. "But I do get a little vacation this way. I get a chance to see the boys and girls."

Webber's prediction came true. Circuit Judge Philip Elliott denied his motion and ruled that he must serve a 4-to-14-year-term for burglary.

No History on Technicalities

Prime Minister Churchill has taken pressure off the issue of Red China's admission to the United Nations by saying this is not the time to try to settle it. But the issue will continue to be lively because it has become a challenge to the stated purposes of the U.N.

The U.N. charter says clearly the U.N. is an association of peace-loving states which have renounced aggression as an instrument of national policy. Its charter leaves no room for doubt that any nation seeking membership in the U.N. must come before it with clean hands.

For this reason it becomes important to understand how a Chinese application for membership might be placed before the U.N. in such a way as to get favorable action despite the blood on Red China's hands.

Peiping might not apply as a prospective new member at all but as the government of China, a nation already holding a charter membership. Thus, the decision to be made by U.N. would be whether the Chinese people should be represented in the U.N. by Nationalists or Communists.

This might then be called a procedural question, which would not be subject to a veto. If that were to happen, the required recommendation by the U.N. Security Council before the General Assembly can consider a question of membership might be forthcoming despite the objection of the United States.

History would have been written on a technicality in that event — and the history would be, in all probability, the collapse of American confidence in the ability of the United Nations to accomplish anything more than the spawning of endless technicalities to back up the Marxist dialectics of Communist conspirators.

Closed Without Notice

The outspoken vigor of a complaint by the Carnegie Corp. against the premature ending of a congressional investigation of tax-exempt foundations is justified.

The investigation had been started by a special committee of the House of Representatives. Twelve witnesses had appeared. Nine alleged that the foundations were using money for purposes that were in some degree un-American. But when the witnesses for the foundations were ready to testify, the investigation closed without advance notice.

The foundations were told they could file briefs and these would be made available for publication, but that was not a satisfactory alternative. Carnegie Corp. said it was like closing a courtroom as soon as the defendants appeared, after giving full publicity to the charges of the plaintiffs.

The position of the tax-exempt foundations has been made harder to accept, moreover, by the apparent reason for calling off the investigation. The chairman of the investigating committee, Rep. B. Carroll Reece of Tennessee, said he was unable to control what he described as the "obstructionist" actions of Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Ohio. Rep. Hays had made no secret of his belief that he thought the investigation was a waste of time and tinged with prejudice.

To all the other questions about congressional investigations which congressmen are trying to answer before the 83th Congress convenes next January has been added one more: Can an individual or an institution be denied the right to reply to accusations on the same terms as those granted the accusers?

The Governors

The nation's governors have wound up their 46th conference at Bolton Landings, N.Y.

Every time the Governors Conference meets, it is a reminder of one of the unsolved problems in American government — the proper relationship between the individual states and the federation of states which has been, since the Civil War, an ever-strengthening national government.

This was one of the problems tackled by the framers of the Constitution, and it is discredit to them to point out they don't solve it. They were successful only in tackling it with good faith and imagination.

To the extent that their successors have possessed these same qualities, there has been a continuous development of solution to the problem of integrating the sovereignty of the states into the national interest. This has been the mainspring of the republic's vigor.

The governors of the states are 48 executive vice presidents of the republic. Without their leadership and influence, the federal government would become remote and abstract — a distant rumbling and fumbling in a place called Washington. Since it is easy to get the impression that governors are relatively unimportant because they don't talk about as much money as presidents, the Governors Conference is a suitable occasion to remember that the federal government was brought into existence by the states and could not exist without the cooperation and consent which enable it to tax the American people for its support.

The Senate is told a substantial number of high school students questioned in a poll said they saw nothing wrong in lying, stealing or destroying property. The trouble is that another poll might indicate they see nothing wrong in kidding people who take polls.

Value of McCarthy Tactics Pointed Up by Wilson

Charles E. Wilson, secretary of defense, is a man of candor. He has just made a statement to the Senate Armed Services Committee which tells more than all the days of the television hearings in the McCarthy - Stevens feud ever did about the dangers of Communist infiltration that face all the armed services and defense plants.

Evidently American public opinion has not yet been sufficiently aroused on this issue and there has not been enough pointing up of the whole situation in defense plants by congressional committee investigations because Sen. Langer of the Senate Judiciary Committee has not yet felt obligated to report to the Senate a bill that is aimed at subversives in the defense plants. Secretary Wilson says a law of that kind is badly needed.

Wilson says, with reference to Communists who are working in defense plants, that, while those engaged in secret work can be fired, there is no way to enable private contractors to prevent them from working in other parts of the same plant and maintaining personal contacts with those who do work on secret projects.

The head of the Department of Defense says in his prepared statement

"In our opinion we do not have sufficient legal authority to fully protect all industries vital to national defense from the danger of subversives and security risks. We hope that the legislation that has been proposed to take care of an important part of this problem will receive the consideration we are sure it deserves."

SEN. SALTONSTALL, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, told Wilson "it might be proper" for Wilson to urge Sen. Langer get the Judiciary Committee of the Senate to act speedily on it.

When Assistant General Counsel Stempler of the Defense Department, who also testified before the Senate Armed Services Committee, was asked about this lack of authority, he said that "a fairly large number" of subversives are known to be working in defense plants. But nothing can be done about it until a new law is obtained.

So it is apparent now that, after all, the "let the FBI do it" doctrine doesn't cover cases like this at all.

Incidentally, this is precisely the point that Sen. McCarthy has been making—namely, that his congressional committee was exposing the presence of such subversives and making an issue of it before the American people when someone in the administration with less sense than emotion succeeded in forcing a suspension of the regular work of the committee in order to deal with the charges about a loyal American, an anti-Communist who happened to be drafted for army service and who, like thousands of others in past years, had someone on Capitol Hill try to get him a commission in the Army.

Speaking of commissions, the secretary of defense in his formal statement has conceded that Maj. Peress should never had been commissioned and that the case was badly handled. He says:

"A study of the Peress case indicated, among other things, that the undesirable results were due, in part at least, to lack of correlation of information in security cases."

WILSON TELLS of a new order, issued by him on April 8, 1954, which requires that "personal records and all investigative records in regard to the security of personnel not now effectively correlated shall be correlated without delay in each of the military departments to insure that full facts are available for prompt and fair administration of all personnel matters."

Wilson then adds significantly:

"I have asked the assistant secretary of the army to tell this committee what action has been taken to carry this out and to avoid as far as humanly possible a repetition of what occurred in the Peress case."

Wilson goes somewhat further in emphasizing what the public furor over subversives in the armed services has led to when he says:

"As I reported to you at our last meeting March 1, 1954, we have taken more effective steps not only to rid the services of undesirable security risks who might be found in the armed forces but also to block off at all points the entry of such persons into the military services."

THE DEFENSE Department secretary sums up what really might well be described as the value of the exposures made during the last several months by Sen. McCarthy's committee on governmental operations. Wilson says:

"Aside from these specific actions, which I have outlined above, there is another result which I think is perhaps the most important one. That is a revitalization of the entire Department from the top echelons down with respect to strengthening, accelerating, and making more effective our machinery to protect the security of the nation within the Department of Defense."

It will be conceded, therefore, by all fairminded persons who are not interested in political combat or in personality prejudices but in stamping out Communist agents, sympathizers and fellow travelers from the government, that only by the fullest publicity and immunity from libel prosecutions — which a congressional committee is privileged to get — can public opinion be sufficiently informed on all these delicate issues affecting the security of the United States.

Dear Nephew: You asked in your latest letter about our vacation plans this year. We don't have any worthy of the name. We have decided that at our age and in our present circumstances it is foolish to make vacation plans.

You might say we are on a continuous vacation, since we have nothing to do that cannot be put off indefinitely. Goodness knows, there is no pressure on us. We do not live in a state of nervous tension.

All we are giving up is travel, not vacation. And we are not giving up travel, except in the few hours notice we can and may take off in any direction we choose and stay as long as we like.

There finally comes a time when there is no place like home or even a reasonable facsimile. We have reached it. Going places for the sake of getting there isn't worth the effort any more. It isn't worth the fatigue, the cost and the inconvenience of getting fouled up in travel mishaps and enduring three bad meals in the hope of getting one good one.

We have one of those new air conditioner things in our bedroom this summer, although I never did have any objection to the temperature before. But I will concede that I sleep better and wake up feeling more refreshed. It's a good gadget.

I have my favorite hideaways for all hours of the day. In the morning I take the chaise around on the west side of that clump of old lilac bushes and it stays cool until almost 11. Then I move around to the east side of the house under the plum tree — the one where the bird feeder is. If nothing interferes with my pleasure, I can stay there comfortably from lunch until supper.

I work a little as the mood comes over me. But what I mean about being on a continuous vacation is that the mood does not come over me often when the temperature is high. There is nothing that cannot be put off indefinitely. The pig weed has taken over the garden, but it will have to wait for me to come out of my corner before we can have a showdown. It's possible the pig weed will win, because nearly everything is far enough along by this time that its growth cannot be stunted by competition with a few weeds. I may not put up a battle.

One thing we want to tell you, speaking of vacations. You are welcome to make this your headquarters if you want to make a few sentimental journeys in this neighborhood during your vacation. You might enjoy going fishing again the way you did when you were a little boy. Matter of fact, you and I might enjoy going skinny-dipping again if we could reach the ole swimmin hole before the traffic on the county line road becomes embarrassingly heavy.

You are old enough by now to know that the instants of happiness we cherish can be recaptured after a fashion by recapturing what is left of the circumstances.

It has turned out to be a quiet summer. I haven't heard of McCarthy, Cohn and Schine since cherries ripened. Even the imminent collapses of foreign civilization I keep hearing about are becoming repetitious. Couldn't be someone is pulling our legs about these awful things so we can be rescued? I don't know. I am just asking. Pass around our regards among you and take things easy until the temperature drops.

U.S. Reappraising Foreign Policy

By Jay G. Hayden

Absence of both Secretary of State Dulles and Undersecretary Smith from the reconvened Geneva Conference is not quite conclusive evidence that the "agonizing reappraisal" of U. S. foreign policy once forecast by Dulles has arrived, but it squints strongly in that direction.

France and Communist China will be represented at the meeting by prime ministers, and Britain and Soviet Russia by foreign ministers. In marked contrast the U. S. chief of delegation, for the time being at least, is our ambassador to Czechoslovakia, U. Alexis Johnson.

Secretary Dulles has announced that, while it is not inconceivable that he or Smith will go to Geneva before the conference ends, until now there is no contemplation of that step.

At least, the meaning of this decision is that the U. S. is greatly displeased with French Premier Mendez-France's taking over of Indochinese peace negotiation with a virtual announcement in advance that he was ready to surrender a large slice of Viet Nam to the Communists.

President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles have determined not to place themselves in a position where they would have either to approve or formally disapprove of a settlement they regard as unsatisfactory.

FURTHER, the American government is sticking to its determination not to recognize the Peiping government even to the extent of top-level talk with its prime minister, Chou En-Lai. At Geneva, Dulles steadfastly refused to meet Chou. So did Undersecretary Smith, although in his case there was a counter-refusal of Chou to negotiate with an American official less highly placed than himself.

As to Indochina, "agonizing reappraisal" already has occurred due to disinclination of the French to continue to fight even with a billion dollars a year of American material aid, plus human participation by aircraft ground mechanics and trainer cadres. The same disrespect for U. S. aid and advice is being shown elsewhere.

France and Italy continue to flout the EDC plan for an international army for defense of Western Europe, with increasing signs that that project never will reach fruition. Great Britain has gone out of its way to quarrel with us on China policy, even to the extent of Foreign Minister Eden boasting of that course before a cheering House of Commons. Britain continues to defer to Pandit Nehru of India, whose stock notion is that the United States is promoting a new type "imperialism" in the Far East.

Viewing these attitudes, members of Congress more and more have inclined to the conclusion that our allies are annoyed by the cutdown of Marshal Plan doles and are trying to blackmail us into restoring that ante.

THE EISENHOWER administration's reaction to all this was indicated by the statement of Sen. Ferguson, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, probably inspired by the State Department, that "Uncle Sam is not a world-wide Mr. Fixit." Ferguson was answering a charge by Sen. Mansfield that France's scuttle-and-run in Indochina was due to insufficiency of U. S. support.

Ferguson said that if there was an American blunder it was the Truman administration's accession in 1945 to British insistence that the effort of France to recover its lost colony in Asia should be supported.

In the face of all these happenings, the U. S. plainly is tending to pull in its international horns. Not that Eisenhower and Dulles favor return to the isolationism of Harding and Coolidge during the 1920's. Far from it. They incline to the belief that we have overreached ourself; that, instead of trying to marshal the world for universal benefits, as when we induced the United Nations to sponsor the war in Korea, in name but without much fighting contribution by any but ourselves, our foreign dealings thenceforth should be more selective and realistic.

FOR EXAMPLE, Secretary Dulles is said to have suggested that the U. S. and Britain should confine their mutualities to a few matters in which their aspirations are clearly alike, because so many times their interests run contrary to each other.

By clinging too long to the hope that France and Italy will ratify EDC, the U. S. is in danger of losing our one best bet for holding off Russian invasion of Western Europe, which is the rearmament of Germany as a firmly committed ally of the United States.

Similarly, in Asia, if the United States had used even a few of the many billions spent in Korea and Indochina on building up Japan and the Philippines as military bulwarks against Communism, our situation in Asia would look much more secure.

The new pattern still is a long way from realization, but American sentiment in direction of it right now is building up at a great rate.

Milk Antidote for Nicotine

By RITCHIE McEWEN

VIENNA

Alarmed at the rapidly increasing mortality rate among top corporation executives, the Austrian government is scheduling a nationwide investigation into the causes of "managerial fatigue," latest in occupational diseases.

The Austrians want to discover the "fatigue" rates in different areas—big cities, country districts, flat areas, Alpine terrain—and to discover the symptoms and causes of the sickness.

Prof. W. Halden, a leading Austrian expert on diet problems, said recently that men and women in exacting and responsible posts, who are required to make snap decisions with far-reaching consequences entirely on their own initiative, are particularly susceptible to this "typically 20th Century malady."

Overstrained nerves, the professor declared, and too many drugs in the form of liquor and tobacco, combined with bad dietary habits, are the main symptoms of managerial fatigue. The disability leads to rapid deterioration in bodily and mental health of "individuals who have reached early middle age," and it can compel premature retirement or even premature death, Halden added.

In West Germany, government officials and the press also are concerned over statistics showing that many German industrialists and businessmen are "killing themselves with overwork."

The newspaper, "Frankfort Abendpost," is conducting an inquiry into Germany's onslaught of managerial sickness.

Austrian biologists believe that one of the chief symptoms of this form of fatigue is arteriosclerosis. This is a hardening of the arteries brought on by eating too many fatty dishes, Halden explained.

The professor advises all important executives who have reached middle age to avoid eating rich foods containing a lot of starch and sugar, and above all to drink plenty of milk.

Milk appears to be a kind of panacea for managerial fatigue. It is, said the professor, an effective neutralizer of the "drug symptoms" of too much strong black coffee; milk will turn the most potent cocktail into a milk, harmless and beneficial elixir; milk is the supreme antidote for excessive nicotine.

A two-pints-of-milk-a-day clause, in fact, should be incorporated in every executive's contract if the firm wishes to retain his services until the proper age for retirement, the diet expert indicated.

The Once Over

Martini Policy

Washington has come out with a firm dry martini policy, and this column has been checking on reports from this week's cocktail parties for signs of approval or disapproval. The GOP platform was wholly silent on the martini. It promised nothing and didn't even suggest a stronger position. Nevertheless, certain martini factions are claiming a victory through the recent official ruling that bottled martini cocktails may be made on a ratio of five parts of gin to one vermouth instead of three-to-one as previously stipulated.

It is merely required that the five-to-one bottle be so labelled, just as is required of anything else in the category of high explosives and mystery weapons.

Dry martini drinkers are a hardy group and have been raising the gin content for some time. There are even six-to-one and seven-to-one martini faddists. We hear they were threatening to go over to the Democratic party in a body because of the old three-to-one regulation, and that the Republican administration had to act.

The Democrats have not openly promised voters a more elastic martini policy, but it is known that they feel anything the Republicans do is too conservative. There are some Democratic leaders, however, who think the way is wide open for a return to power if they better the five-to-one ratio and top this by party planks promising to restore the man-size beer and pledging the abolition of the measuring glass now widely used for rye or scotch in all highballs and cocktails.

Smart politicians say there is more resentment in the breasts of American voters because of the eye-dropper and demitasse trend in preparing mixed drinks than over any other one matter affecting the general public.

Just now the martini is the main issue, however. We hold that the government should take some action to go hand in hand with the higher calibre dry martini. As, for instance, federal regulations requiring iron railings behind all department windows, ropes around the more delicately constructed furniture and thicker padding under the rugs. (A good many five-to-one martini consumers are complaining of head injuries.)

There is a belief, too, that the ratio of cops at extra dry martini parties should be set at about five cops per guest instead of four as at present.

We just talked with our martini correspondent, Elmer Twitchell, about the new revenue department ruling. He had attended an official party at the martini testing grounds. "How did the five - to - one experiment go" we asked. "Dine and fandy," he replied "Swunnerful. Bikini Island destroyed, but I'm in grood shape."

"Are you sure" we asked.

"Who?" replied Mr. Twitchell, with a conclusive gesture.

In his decision to run for an election on an all-out stand against Joe McCarthy, Sen. Case of New Jersey may be demonstrating that he has the longest neck in Washington.

New York won't be the same without its annual flower show next spring. I was always part of our physical training to go to the flower show and test ourself in the physical requirements demanded when trying to get to a formal rose garden against the frenzied opposition of the opposite sex. A man didn't know what it meant to get knocked around and all beat up until he had tried to hold his own against the embattled women's flower clubs in a flower show rush. We favor holding it somewhere. How about Stillman's gym?

Four Persons Injured In Mishap Near Upper

UPPER SANDUSKY—In "fairly good" condition at Wyandot Memorial Hospital here are four young people injured in an auto collision two miles north of here on Route 23 at 10 p.m. Friday.

John Bell, 20, the driver, and Norman Kin, 21, both of Tiffin, were traveling south. Going north were Ruth Fisher, 18, the driver, and Ruth Ann Fields, 17, both of Carey.

The accident was investigated by the Wyandot County sheriff's department. The officers found the Tiffin car had swerved across the highway into a head-on collision.

DRIVER KILLED IN CRASH

EATON, Ohio (AP) — Reuben B. Lindsey, 60, of near New Paris, was killed when the tractor and trailer he was driving turned over on him yesterday.

Patrol Holding 2 After Land, Sea, Air Chase

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—The state highway patrol post at nearby Hebron today investigated two armed men captured after a chase involving aircraft, a boat and highway patrol cars.

The patrol did not identify the men, and patrolmen were unable to say whether the two had been involved in any crime.

The chase started after a Franklin County auto service station attendant reported two men who "acted suspiciously" yesterday.

After being spotted by a patrol cruiser, the two abandoned a car bearing what the patrol said apparently was a privately made license tag. The tag carried no state name.

The two were taken across Buckeye Lake in a private boat, patrol officers learned, so they borrowed a boat and followed.

A patrol plane and a private plane went aloft to join the search.

A Thornville marshal and Thorn Twp. constable captured the pair at Bumquat Landing, a mile west of Thornport, and turned them over to the highway patrol.

The patrol said the two carried a .38 caliber automatic and a .22 caliber automatic.

One of the men, who said he was from Dayton, told officers he had been hitchhiking east from Indiana. The other claimed to be from Gloucester, Mass. Police released no other details.

FIRE DAMAGES AUTO

Marion firemen were called to the front of 310 Silver St. yesterday at 2:50 p.m. where they extinguished a car fire. Firemen reported a short circuit in the wiring of the car owned by Mrs. Jack Chevalier of 513 Scranton Ave. burned out wires under the car dashboard. Loss was estimated at $10.

British Youngsters Envy 'Lucky' Teenagers in U.S.

American teenagers are the luckiest in the world, says 24-year-old Jean Kapp Philips, probably this country's youngest corporation president.

"British youngsters would like to be in the position of their American counterparts. They are not given the respect we show our teenagers and are forced by economic conditions to earn a living wage at an earlier age."

JEAN, WHO ONCE won the title "America's Typical Teenager," has been interested in teenagers ever since she was old enough to write about them. With a former employer, she recently formed Teenage Public Relations, a company dedicated to help business sell its wares to boys and girls from 11 to 19.

She feels the 22 million teenagers here constitute a multi-billion-dollar untapped market, and says:

"Teenagers are an unknown quantity as far as adults are concerned."

The dark-haired, attractive wife of a dentist, Jean observed English teensters in 1949 when she made an 18-country tour of the continent entirely on her own money.

WHEN SHE SPEAKS about the unequalled opportunities American teenagers have, she knows from experience. Before reaching 21, she had written for several magazines, produced a newspaper teenage column and appeared on radio and television.

Jean, who gets letters from teenage fans, and looks like a teenager herself, spent more than five years researching this age group. She says the typical teenager today is at the height of curiosity and eagerness for new experiences.

"He's open minded, more than at any other period in his life. He's enthusiastic but also a bit skeptical because of world conditions. He is better prepared for life than any other teenager in history."

Jean understands teenagers because she is able to speak their language, and she hopes to get American business to do the same.

One thing youngsters could learn from Jean is ingenuity.

AS EARL PEEL—now her vice-president—tells it, he fired Jean about five years ago as his secretary and fired her within two days because "she was the worst secretary I ever had." As Jean was about to leave his office she placed on his desk a written plan of action for Teenage Public Relations—with a bell on it.

"I put the report away and forgot about it," says Earl. "But every time I'd rearrange my papers, the bell would ring. I'd pick up the report and write to Jean."

Sewing Aprons Handy For Home Seamstress

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

Every woman who sews needs a handy sewing apron.

Its deep pockets can hold practically every needlework need except the sewing machine. It can be trimmed with an appliqued tape measure, useful for measuring short lengths of fabric. A red felt pincushion fastened to the belt keeps pins within reach.

Local sewing center experts suggest sturdy sanforized denim in a gay color for a practical and washable apron. About a yard of fabric is needed to make it, plus a 6 x 11 inch piece of red felt and a little cotton batting for the heart-shaped pincushion.

When the apron is made, stitch a tape measure around sides, bottom and across the top of the pockets, using the zigzag attachment to your machine, or simply a double row of straight stitching.

Two little tabs hang from the belt—one for the pincushion, the other for a pair of scissors.

Both apron and pincushion are made by a standard pattern, which may be used for trimming instead of the tape measure, if you prefer.

This sewing apron is a popular bazaar or gift item. If you make several, be sure to keep one for yourself. You'll find it one of the most useful items in your sewing room.

NEEDLES AND PINS . . . A gay sewing apron keeps them at hand. Tape measure trim and felt pincushion complete the picture.

State Veterinarian Urges Farmers To Vaccinate Cattle

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Dr. James R. Hay, state veterinarian, has asked Ohio cattle farmers to have their animals vaccinated before the blackleg season begins in the fall.

Last fall, 312 cattle on 147 farms died of the disease which is usually fatal and causes legs of cattle to swell.

Dr. Hay said vaccination prevents blackleg and added, "Now is the time for herd owners to consult with their local veterinarians concering preventive measures." He said 107 of 312 cases last year occurred in September, October and November.

Caesar's Ghost

By George Sokolsky

I was sitting in the theater at Tanglewood in the Berkshires—listening to Bach's Brandenburg concertos, five of the six of them. When I listen to Bach, I cannot think of right or left, or left of center, or any of the silly distinctions which those who are unmoved by the eternities enjoy as an exercise in adolescent intellectualism. Surely it matters little how excited one becomes about the ephemera of personalities. Hitler, Roosevelt and Stalin are dead, but history knows no end.

SOKOLSKY

From behind me, I heard a pleasant feminine voice say, "There is George Sokolsky." I felt that fame had at last come to me and that I was as great as Adolphe Menjou with whom one cannot walk a sidewalk without becoming a neon sign. However, my pride was soon dissipated, for a strident, masculine voice spoke up to say:

"Now my evening is spoiled. He is to the right of Caesar's ghost."

MY MIND WENT BACK to Bach and I never even looked at the woman with the pleasant voice nor at the man with the strident voice. Afterwards, when all the Brandenburgs were over, I thought that I might have asked him whether he wanted to take the Fifth Amendment but it was unnecessary. It was sufficiently tough for him to see one who was to the right of Caesar's ghost. It so spoiled his evening that he forgot Bach and remembered only Sokolsky. How horrible!

Personally, I have had no acquaintance with Caesar's ghost and know nothing about his politics or sociology. Perhaps in heaven or hell, Caesar has learned more than his ghost is willing to talk about. In Shakespeare's version, the ghost is not very impressive and I had forgotten him.

Nevertheless, I could not help wondering how right one can be when he is to the right of Caesar's ghost. What does such a person believe to be true For after a., what was the truth about man in the days of Julius Caesar is true today The natural law is timeless, unchanging, permanent, and holds for Greek as well as Hebrew as St Paul so wisely said it I should imagine, although I would not know, that the essential difference between Julius Caesar and my adversary is that Caesar wore his head bald

JULIUS CAESAR was a Roman politician who was scheming to turn Rome from a republic into an empire with himself upon a regal seat. Thrice he refused the crown, but he undoubtedly was fixing to get it at the right time and in the right way. There was a skinny fellow by the name of Cassius who was conspiring to undo Caesar's conspiracy. He undoubtedly involved the innocent Brutus in this deal, so that Brutus assassinated Caesar who was his close friend. This kind of a double double-cross has not been unusual in history, although nobody ever can tell us why Brutus would not have done more for Rome as Caesar's prime minister.

Shakespeare has Brutus say: ". . . not that I loved Caesar less, but that I loved Rome more. Had you rather Caesar were living, and die all slaves, than that Caesar were dead, to live all free men. As Caesar loved me, I weep for him; as he was fortunate, I rejoice at it; as he was valiant, I honour him; but, as he was ambitious, I slew him. . ." It sounds like the United States Senate.

ANYHOW, there was a politician called Mark Antony who saw his chance and took it. He delivered a speech which would have been a credit to William Jennings Bryan, which is not surprising as my version was ghost-written by William Shakespeare who knew the business. Mark Antony got into trouble because of a dame in Egypt, and he was not the first to do that.

What I am trying to discover is how all this puts me to the right of Caesar's ghost. If the strident gentleman had said that I was a muddy thinker, as someone did in Denver, because I believe that Karl Marx's postulates on sociology, biology and history cannot be substantiated, I might have asked him to a pot of tea, to discuss the isms, but when he involves me with Caesar's ghost, I must decline to admit guilt by association. I never met the ghastly gentleman and cannot give testimony concerning him.

Snoring

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK What is the real reason people snore?

HAL BOYLE

bands was a sign of affection for their wives.

He said it might be a race memory relic of the caveman who "made the noise at night to keep marauders away from his den."

Thus the husband now who keeps his wife awake with his grunts, histles, groans and snorts may really be trying to protect the dear girl by unconsciously warning away robbers or would-be rivals.

This theory is as full of holes as a sweater hung in a closet full of moths, and the doctor who advanced it must be an amateur student of snoring. No wife I have discussed this idea with has any faith with it whatsoever.

Everyone who has heard an elderly hound dog snoring before a fireplace is sure that his eager whines and subdued barks indicate he is living over old happy hunting days in his dreams. One wife I talked to is sure that this holds equally true of her husband.

"Don't tell me that bum's snoring means he is trying to guard me and our home," she said. "If that is what he were trying to do, he'd be scowling and growling in his sleep.

"BUT ALL he does is wheeze and gurgle as if he were out of breath—and when I turn on the light he has a pleased look on his face. You know what I think that proves? The old fool is dreaming about chasing some pretty blonde, and it makes me so mad I get up and pour cold water on his face. Sometimes he looks so happy while he's snoring it is all I can do to keep from slapping him.'

As I know this lady's husband, I feel there may be some truth in what she says. In the office where he is employed the girls call him "old cold paws" and "Harry, the false-toothed wolf."

But what about women? The snoring of wives is becoming a real problem in many households today. Does this merely mark another step in woman's drive for equal rights—a subconscious assertion of the principle that if the man of the house can snore, she'll show him she can, too?

Or is there more to it than that? Does this increased snoring by wives indicate that in our present world of mice-men a lady feels even in her sleep she must snarl and growl to protect from danger the weak, helpless male she calls her own? That would hold true if the british doctor's theory is correct, for what's sauce for the gander is sauce for the goose.

NATURALLY I would hesitate even to suggest that a snoring wife might be dreaming of walking down a moonlit path with the tall, dark, handsome bachelor next door—or reliving a canoe ride with some old high school beau.

Husbands I have discussed this with gallantly rejected such a possibility. They were sure their wives were faithful to them even in their childish dreams.

"Snoring is just a form of self-expression with wives, as I see it," said one. "They are unable to make their husbands listen to them while they are awake. But women never give up, so all a wife's snoring means is that she is still trying to reach her husband's ears after she is asleep.

"She is either reminding him of something he didn't do yesterday, or giving him his advance orders for the next day. And when a man snores back at his wife he is probably just telling her all the things he didn't dare open his mouth about before he went to bed.

"When both husband and wife snore its likely to be a happy family, as each of them gets off his chest in their sleep whatever they had on their mind when they were awake."

The other husbands agreed this was the best possible explanation of snoring.

Carey Residents Form Booster Club for Drive

CAREY—At a meeting of the Carey school board, village council and representatives of various local clubs and societies Tuesday night in the municipal building, the Carey Boster Club was organized.

The immediate purpose of the club will be to raise $6,000 to establish a cyclone fence around the high school football field at Carey Memorial Park. Two Accidents Investigated in Morrow Area

One person was injured in one of two traffic accidents in Morrow County Friday, Marion state highway patrolmen reported today.

William E. Beier Jr., 24, of Akron received a scratched forehead in a car-Greyhound Bus collision on Route 42, three-tenths of a mile north of Route 746, at 1:20 this morning.

He was driver of the car, headed north, which ran into the bus carrying 24 passengers. Patrolmen reported Beier fell asleep and drove into the southbound bus driven by Robert Lewis Stevens, 41, of Covington, Ky.

The other accident, which occurred on Route 42, three-tenths of a mile north of Route 314, at 5:10 p.m. yesterday, involved two cars.

Patrolmen reported a car driven by Patricia J. Starn, 24, of Cleveland, ran into the rear of a vehicle driven by Mary H. Sparks, 29, also of Cleveland. She was stopped for a flagman who was stopping traffic through an area where a road was under construction.

Both cars were headed north. Patrolmen reported light damage to both cars.

Honored in the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. John Snider who recently celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary and Mr. and Mrs. James Cusick, who have been married 55 years. Gifts were presented to the couples.

Mrs. Edna Shetterly, president, was in charge of the auxiliary meeting. The charter was draped for Mrs. Mary Ross McKay of Lakewood, a past state and national president, whose death occurred recently. Mrs. Gertrude Andrews was appointed to serve as aide. 'Machine Gun' Kelly Dies in Federal Prison

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — George (Machine Gun) Kelly, 59, serving a life sentence for the kidnaping of Charles F. Urschel, wealthy Oklahoma City oil man, died in the federal prison hospital today after a heart attack. This was Kelly's birthday.

Kelly and an accomplice, Albert L. Bates, armed with a machine gun and a pistol kidnaped Urschel from his palatial Oklahoma City home shortly after midnight July 22, 1933. Urschel was released July 31 after payment of a $200,000 ransom.

Kelly, his wife Kathryn, Bates and Harvey Bailey were convicted, the first convictions under the Lindbergh law, and given life sentences.

State Weighs Court Action Against County

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Apparently having failed to club Harrison County into submission by financial means, the state of Ohio today considered going to court to force compliance with a relief program for the disabled.

The state yesterday changed its mind and decided to authorize payment of $16,731.26 in matching funds to the county. Withholding of the funds had been interpreted as a lever to force the county to make payments under the aid to the disabled program.

A tentative agreement has been reached by state officials to take the dispute between the state and the county to the supreme court before the fall term. But Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill says his action must await a conference with Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

The authorization is for the first state payment of aid funds this year and covers the period from January to June. The money had been withheld because Harrison County officials contended they did not need federal funds to take care of their permanently and totally disabled. County officials insist on home rule and refuse to place aid administrators under civil service.

The state gets some of its aid for the disabled money from the federal government under a law which provides that all counties in the state must cooperate in the program and have county administrators under civil service.

Despite Harrison's refusal to cooperate, the federal funds still are coming in to Ohio. However, federal authorities have threatened to cut off the contributions, which amount to as much as $2,800,000 a year, if Ohio is unsuccessful in bringing Harrison County into line with the other 87 counties.

Repeated appeals to the county by the state welfare department and Gov. Lausche thus far have failed to change the minds of county officials.

Relatives at Galion Learn More Details About Fatal Mishap

GALION — Relatives here have received more details the accident which proved to be fatal to Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Garcia at Las Cruces, New Mexico, last Saturday.

Miss Alice Kurtz, 20, also of Les Cruces, and sister of Mrs. Garcia, who was with the Garcias in the accident, had to have partial amputation of her left leg Thursday as a result of the accident.

Mrs. Emma Kurtz of Galion, grandmother of the two women, and Guerney Snyder of Marion County, and Kenneth Snyder of New Winchester, uncles, flew to New Mexico last Sunday after they received word of the accident. They are in Las Cruces with Miss Kurtz. Miss Kurtz also suffered third degree burns over her entire body and her condition is regarded as critical.

Miss Kurtz and Mrs. Garcia are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Kurtz who lived at New Winchester four years ago when they returned here while Mr. Kurtz worked on a degree at Ohio State University and Mrs. Kurtz taught school at Whetstone. Mr. Kurtz is now FFA head at New Mexico A. and M. College. Mrs. Kurtz was here recently caring for her mother, the late Mrs. Clarence Snyder, who died early in July.

Warmer Weather Has Same Effect on Chicken

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP) — Chickens, like humans, become extra lazy during hot weather and seek summertime comfort.

A chicken not only wants plenty of cool, fresh drinking water but wants it convenient. If a watering fountain is more than 10 feet away, a chicken may go thirsty rather than make the trip.

This is the observance of E. D. Parnell, professor of poultry husbandry at Texas A. M. College.

He says that unless chickens drink plenty of water, there will be fewer eggs laid.

Bolstered Free World

Program of Foreign Aid 'Paid Off,' Senators Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee said today the U.S. foreign aid program has "paid off" in "greater total free-world strength."

In a report to the Senate urging approval of a $3,100,000,000 foreign aid program for the current year, the committee majority said the American-assisted military buildup in Western Europe in the four years since the Communist attack in Korea has had this result:

"The Soviets could no longer launch an attack without noticeable advance preparation."

Asia Situation Less Rosy

The report conceded that the free world situation in Asia was less rosy, but it added:

"Allied reverses in Indochina are not legitimate grounds for defeatism; on the contrary, they are cause for renewed and stronger efforts to build an effective system of collective security in that part of the world.

"On balance, the United States need not be dismayed by the continuance of the Soviet threat. We have many strong allies, and the mutual security program embodied in the pending bill will make them even stronger."

Sen. Langer (R-ND) was the only one of the 15 committee members who did not sign the report; he arranged to file dissenting views later.

Blasts Giveaway

Langer served notice in a floor speech Thursday he would vote against the bill on the ground it involved "just another giveaway."

The foreign aid bill now is before the Armed Services Committee, whose chairman, Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass), said he expected no money cuts although the group may have some technical amendments to propose.

The Foreign Relations Committee shaved 348 millions off President Eisenhower's request for the authorization measure. The House voted $3,338,000,000.

The Senate group said its 10 per cent reduction was justified because the Foreign Operations Administration has $2,600,000,000 of previously appropriated funds still unobligated.

But the report noted that FOA Director Harold E. Stassen said this money was committed to definite programs. It indicated any attempts on the floor to make further cuts in the new authorization would be resisted by committee members.

Morse Blasts Atom Proposal As 'Giveaway'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) charged today that an atomic "giveaway" is "being rushed through the Congress . . . without adequate consideration."

In a speech prepared for the Senate, Morse declared a bill to carry out President Eisenhower's atomic policies is "designed to turn over the power features of the atomic energy program to private industry . . ."

He called instead for a "positive program of atomic power production by the federal government," to prevent the people from becoming "the victims of monopoly power practices."

For the third straight day, the Senate was recalled at 10 a.m. EDT to continue debate on an omnibus bill designed to allow private industry into the atomic field and to authorize disclosure of limited nuclear secrets to allies.

Morse yesterday blocked an attempt by Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California to bring the bill to an early vote, by refusing to accept any limitation on debate.

Knowland immediately served notice that the Senate, now on a 12-hour day, faced more overtime to meet the July 31 target date for adjournment.

Morse and several Southern Democrats argued that the session should be extended.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), a leader in the opposition to the administration measure told newsmen that Southern Democrats were not conducting a filibuster in their speeches so far directed primarily against a presidential directive to contract for a new private power facilities in the Tennessee Valley.

The disputed White House directive would have the AEC contract for a new private steam plant to service the Memphis, Tenn., area over Tennessee Valley Authority lines. TVA power thus replaced would be shunted to the atomic plant at Paducah, Ky.

Opponents of the plan have hammered away at AEC's authority to make such a contract.

New York was the 14th state to require periodic inspection of motor vehicles.
